GREEN ON WAY HOME TO FACE JOBS PROBLEMS

Has 4 Weeks to Pick Official Family.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Dwight H. Green will return to Chicago from a two weeks' vacation tomorrow, a day less than four weeks before his inauguration as governor of Illinois on Jan. 13. His friends and advisers say a whole series of political headaches will confront him in that period.

They say the first difficult problem he will tackle will be the naming of a patronage committee in conformity with a decision he announced soon after the election on Nov. 5. Some turmoil over the makeup of this body appeared during his absence, but it must be named soon if it is to consider the great mass of job applications before the new administration takes hold.

Must Select Cabinet.

That committee will handle all secondary appointments, but the governor elect at the same time must be selecting his 10 cabinet members, his two secretaries, his administrative assistant, his administrative auditor, the heads of important commissions, and other officials directly responsible to him.

In compliance with his emphatic request, Green was permittted 10 days of almost undisturbed rest at Sea Island, Ga., but since he dropped into Washington, D. C., on Friday his friends have been able to gather some facts about his progress with the problems ahead.

Things They Think They Know.

Among the things they believe they know are these:

1. Green has reached no final decision concerning any of the 10 cabinet posts, and in some instances is considering several names for the same place. He wants a man of banking experience for director of finance.

2. Retrenchment plans will be directed at administrative costs and not toward reduction of appropriations for relief, old age pensions, and maintenance and operation of state charitable and penal institutions.

3. He already has asked advisers in several counties to study the present pay rolls and recommend the elimination of all positions they consider unnecessary. When they are selected, department and commission heads will receive definite instructions on this score.

Keehn May Be Retained.

4. Green may retain Roy D. Keehn as chairman of the Illinois commerce commission if Keehn, with whom he had close personal relations for years, desires it; but the law prohibits the commission chairman from engaging in any other business or professional activity and Keehn is an attorney with a valuable practice.

5. The governor-elect favors parole reform and will aid legislation drafted for that purpose after he has familiarized himself with the changes needed.

6. He recognizes that fulfilment of his campaign pledge to lift the sales tax from foodstuffs is a delicate legal matter which will require close study before legislative action is taken. He thinks a constitutional amendment may be necessary.

Downstate Seeks Share.

Discussion during Green's absence dealt frequently with the personnel of his patronage committee and its makeup. This resulted largely from the circulation of a mimeographed sheet contending strongly that downstate won the Republican state victory and that it would be unfair to name a majority of the committee from Cook county. It came from Egypt and was taken as a sign that southern Illinois intends to battle for a substantial share of the patronage under the new governor.

Green, Senator Wayland Brooks, and other November winners will be guests at a victory dinner tomorrow night. Ben L. Berve, chairman of the state central committee which arranged the dinner, announced that more than 5,000 reservations have been received and that applicants since last Wednesday have been notified that the Stevens hotel accommodations have been exhausted and that overflow events will be arranged at the Congress and the Palmer House.

The speeches at the Stevens will be broadcast to the diners elsewhere.

LABOR BOSSES' POLICE RECORDS ARE REVEALED

Campaign Aimed at Control of Cash.

State's Attorney Courtney.

State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney yesterday announced that his staff will undertake a concerted drive to rid Chicago labor unions of officers with police records who are exercising gang domination over rank and file members.

The campaign launched last Friday and Saturday by Commissioner Allman to close down handbooks operated by Frank [The Enforcer] Nitti and his syndicate of old Capone gangsters in the loop and adjacent areas was viewed as a coöperative step to cut off the gangsters' source of funds.

Teamwork Is Apparent.

Teamwork between the police and state's attorney already has been apparent in the police campaign to shut down south side gambling houses owned by Danny Stanton, prohibition era gangster, after Courtney expressed determination to drive Stanton from the Miscellaneous Union of Hotel and Restaurant Employés.

In sworn testimony before the grand jury, George B. McLane, business agent of the Bartenders' union, told how Stanton was levying tribute of $1,800 a month from the Miscellaneous union, composed chiefly of waiters.

Courtney moved vigorously in the last few months to bar the Nitti gang from the Bartenders and Beverage Dispensers' union. He obtained indictments against the syndicate boss and several of his henchmen, charging them with conspiracy to seize the organization.

Court Ruling Spurs Action.

When Judge John F. Bolton ruled that McLane, the state's principal witness, did not have to testify, despite vigorous protests by the state's attorney's assistants, the charges were dismissed in court. McLane, who for months had been complaining against the acts of the Nitti gang, refused to testify on the ground he might incriminate himself, and the court upheld his right to so refuse.

This admission by McLane was regarded as proof of the charges he had made previously against Nitti, and the setback to the prosecution has only whetted Courtney's determination, his assistants asserted.

Police have compiled the records of many of the present union officials who have been engaged in shady dealings or have been taken into custody. The list is a long one.

Some of the better known possessors of records are:

MAX CALDWELL, business manager of Retail Clerks' International Protective association—April 25, 1932, six months probation on charge of assault with deadly weapon. July, 1934, indicted for conspiracy; found

Mob Drags 11 Negroes from Carolina Jail

Georgetown, S. C., Dec. 15 [Special].—A mob of 300 men, armed with shotguns, rifles, and pistols, forced its way into the Georgetown county jail today seeking to discover whether a Negro who raped a Georgetown white married woman last night was in custody.

Sheriff H. B. Bruorton was awakened in his quarters by the mob at dawn. Despite his insistence that he did not have the suspect, a crowd of armed citizens went thru the cell tiers, inspecting 11 Negro prisoners in their search for the rapist. They forced the sheriff to deliver one of the prisoners to them and took him to the home of the victim to see if she could identify him. She said he was not the man.

Fails to Identify Them.

The woman then was brought to the jail. She was kept in a truck while the other 10 Negroes were led before her, one at a time. As she failed to identify each one, he was turned back to the sheriff.

Sheriff Bruorton, aware that a lynching was in prospect if the rapist were apprehended, appealed to Gov. Burnet R. Maybank, who sent out a hurried mobilization order to the state militia. Before the five officers and 30 soldiers appeared and mounted a machine gun on the second story porch of the jail, the mob already had returned the prisoners to their cells.

Meanwhile, the sheriff and his deputies, after a search of the countryside late in the day, arrested George Thomas, 23 years old. The sheriff said he was identified by the woman as her assailant. Despite the protection offered by the militia, the prisoner was spirited off to the state prison at Columbia for safekeeping.

Woman Tells of Attack.

The victim of the attack told Sheriff Bruorton that the Negro dragged her into a vacant lot, grown up in tall grass, while she was walking home last night.

While the troops were being mobilized, the sheriff, Mayor H. L. Smith, and City Councilman F. L. Siau appealed to the mob to maintain order and not to take the law into its hands.

The troops under command of Lieut. Col. L. C. Davis patroled the jail grounds thru the night as a precautionary measure.

VETO MAY PREVENT CHRISTMAS RECESS, LAWMAKERS ASSERT

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15 (AP).—Congressional leaders said today that President Roosevelt's expected veto of the Walter-Logan bill might prevent a recess of the national legislature over Christmas and perhaps force continuation of the session until the new year.

Mr. Roosevelt has indicated he will disapprove the measure, which would broaden jurisdiction of the courts over rulings of administrative agencies, and a veto message is expected early this week.

There is some doubt whether either the senate or the house could obtain a quorum to vote on the question of overriding a veto. Unless two-thirds of both houses voted to override, a veto would stand.

House leaders declared that chamber intended to remain in session to act on the President's message. They reported that "warrants for the arrest of absent members" already had been prepared and would be served if a quorum was not present when a veto message was presented.

PINS DOWN GREEK HERO LEGEND AND IS STUCK WITH IT

The Greek drive against the Italians in Albania had a repercussion yesterday in Chicago.

Thomas Stephani, 45 years old, 5232 Harper avenue, a barber, became so excited while discussing the relative fighting qualities of the Greeks and the Italians that he swallowed a two-inch stickpin.

Stephani was winding his tie about his neck with the stickpin in his mouth when he attempted to voice his praise of his countrymen as warriors. When he opened his mouth he lost control of the pin and it slipped down his gullet.

Stephani refused to call a doctor, saying he felt no ill effects from his mishap. He added that the fact that the pin did not hurt him proves his contention that Greeks are tough.

Judge Puts Slot Machine Money in School Treasury

Oregon, Ill., Dec. 15 [Special].—County Judge Philip Nye yesterday entered an order placing in the Ogle county treasury the sum of $242.76, obtained from five slot machines seized in a raid on the Rock River Country club here. The money will be used for Oregon township school expenses.

Axel, 5, Takes Berlin in Stride on Trip to U. S.

BERLIN, Dec. 15 (AP).—Axel Gorm Andersen, 5½ year old American who is on his way alone from Norway to New York, arrived safely tonight in the midst of Berlin's blackout and was disappointed not to find a lively air raid going on.

There was a ticket attached to a string around his neck when he landed at Stettiner station so any one could read where he is going in case he forgets. But he had not forgotten.

"I'm headed for Long Island," he said, and the ticket amplified: "To Axel Andersen, 4137 70th street, Woodside," which is in the borough of Queens, New York.

Missed U. S. Transport.

Caught by the war while visiting his grandparents in the Trondheim district of Norway, Axel missed the United States transport American Legion when that ship left Petsamo, Finland, last August.

Now he is on his way again. He will be placed on a Barcelona bound plane Tuesday. From Barcelona he'll take another plane to Lisbon where the American Red Cross is to put him on the S. S. Siboney for New York.

Axel came equipped with ration tickets, a ski suit, and a stocking cap. At the Kaiser hotel, he proceeded to pack away a stew and milk pudding which Frau Schmoelder of the German Familien Dienst, affiliated with the international migration service, had waiting for him.

He's an Alert Lad.

Frau Schmoelder pronounced the youngster, whose blond hair kept getting into his blue eyes, "munter"—an altogether complimentary word meaning alert.

"Where are the animals?" was all Axel wanted to know.

He had been promised a trip to the zoo.

German Children to Get Christmas Nuts, Sweets

BERLIN, Dec. 15.—In honor of Christmas, German children will be granted a ration of four ounces of shelled nuts, or eight ounces of unshelled nuts. They also will be given an extra allowance of two ounces of "marzipan," which is a sweet made with almonds or substitutes, or they may choose two ounces of "a product containing cocoa." Christmas candy rations for adults will be four ounces.

Strikes Peril Nation, British Workers Told

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 15.—Following Minister of Labor Ernest Bevin's accusation yesterday that he knew British communists were playing a rôle to support an expected Hitler Christmas peace offensive, Minister of Aircraft Production Lord Beaverbrook's Sunday Express today expressed concern regarding recent troubles in vital war factories.

"Unofficial strikes in certain war factories recently have done more than German bombs to hold up production," an editorial complained.

Warning against undue optimism over the Italian defeat in Africa, the editorial urged Britons to "remember that the Italians still possess immense resources," and that "even when we succeed in driving Italy out of the war we still are faced with the formidable might of the Nazi reich."

Stimulating Victories.

The editorial demanded that the public not "become drunk and slothful after quaffing the glorious draught of success," but that the British victory in Egypt must stimulate even greater production than heretofore.

Referring to "the recent trouble in our factories," the editorial asserted that it did not take the view that the "working people always are blamed for these episodes." It insisted "that wherever management is found responsible factories should be taken over by the government."

"There are no strikes and no lockouts in the German reich," the editorial said, concluding, "Factory owners in Britain who oppress workmen and workmen who stir up strife at this hour are equally guilty of treachery to the cause of human liberty and justice."

Before the house of commons adjourns for its short Christmas recess Prime Minister Churchill will review the war situation in a detailed speech, it was reported tonight.

Want to Know War Aims.

It is uncertain if Churchill will make a declaration on war aims, on which a cabinet committee has been working. Demands have been increasing recently for a clear statement and the government several times has promised some kind of statement.

The New Statesman and Nation asserted that failure to clarify what the country is fighting for has caused serious contradictions in British propaganda which now "becomes all important" with the Italian people.

The paper suggested that the foreign office "still hopes for modified Catholic Fascism in Italy."

Sir Robert Vansittart, chief diplomatic adviser to the government, also was criticized by the paper.

"Presumably he — Vansittart — encourages the war aims of the present Polish leaders, who desire to revenge German cruelty to the Poles, which would be one of the most difficult problems of peace making," the New Statesman said. "The Poles seem to envisage ruling over a large German population—with great opportunities for another Hitler—and also making war on the U. S. S. R. to recover territory largely inhabited by Russians."

Minister Chides Soviet.

GLASGOW, Scotland, Dec. 15 (AP).—Minister of Labor Ernest Bevin, speaking here after being interrupted on two previous nights by hecklers who gave the communist salute, declared tonight that the British government has got "to teach Russia that that method of carrying on her foreign policy does not pay in this country."

Bevin declared the government has to face the issue as a matter of war strategy.

LLOYD GEORGE WILL SEE CHURCHILL; MAY BE NEW ENVOY TO U. S.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 15.—THE TRIBUNE learned from an authoritative source tonight that David Lloyd George, world war prime minister, has been called for consultation by the government. He arrived in London this evening from his country home at Criccieth and it is understood he will lunch with Prime Minister Winston Churchill tomorrow.

Speculation regarding the purpose of the consultation is varied. It has been known for some time that the government was eager to use his coördinating abilities to organize the war effort on the home front.

It is also suggested that Lloyd George may be offered the post of ambassador to the United States to succeed the late Lord Lothian. The Washington post is regarded generally as one of the most important jobs in the government at the present time.

BRITISH SMASH FORTRESS WITH CANNON, TANKS

'Nearest Thing to Hell,' Fascist Says.

BY EDWARD KENNEDY.

WITH THE BRITISH FORCES AT NIBEIWA IN THE WESTERN DESERT, Egypt, Dec. 15 (AP).—An Italian officer, captured here last week when the British opened their offensive, told me today the battle which raged for an hour around Nibeiwa was "the nearest thing to hell ever seen on this earth."

Nibeiwa is a strong desert fortress from which the Italians had intended loosing their first thunderbolt against the British lines in Egypt.

Taken by Surprise.

It was taken by surprise and from what I hear the battle, while not the greatest in Britain's smashing assault against the Fascist troops in Egypt, was perhaps the most decisive. For if the attack had failed it is doubtful that the offensive could have gone on.

It was absolutely necessary to reduce this fortress to permit the British forces to move on to Sidi Barrani on the coast, the main Italian advance base.

[Dispatches from Cairo last night indicated that some British forces already have crossed the Egyptian frontier into Libya, and that some Italian troops were believed holding out in small forts in the Egyptian coastal sector. Rome reported that the Italians had drawn on their reserves in an effort to stem the British counter-offensive in Egypt. Story on page 6.]

Nibeiwa stands on a circular plateau, about one mile in diameter, 15 miles due south of Sidi Barrani, and was selected as the base from which Gen. Pietro Maletti's crack troops, especially organized last July as the vanguard of the Italian push, were to make a dash for the Nile and Suez.

But so great was the surprise element when the British struck at dawn last Monday that the tanks which formed an important part of the Maletti group never even got into action.

The British opened with a barrage of 60 pound shells from the east where the Italians had their strongest fortifications. Tanks, field artillery, and truckloads of infantry then moved swiftly in from the west.

Tanks Charge Up Embankment.

The Italians turned their guns in that direction and tried vainly to halt the onward sweep of the British, but the tanks were already charging up the embankment with guns barking, while artillery fired over them and the infantry in the rear dismounted from their trucks and prepared for a bayonet charge.

Gen. Maletti, my informant told me, rallied his men for a counterattack at the British right flank, but fell with a bullet thru his chest and died within a few minutes after the British reached him.

The British fire was so heavy that Italian tank crews were unable to get from their tents to their tanks a short distance away. As the British tanks took their deadly toll, the Italian tanks stood empty and idle. This apparently was one of the main reasons for the quick British victory.

Horses and Mules Stampeded.

The confusion of the Italians increased as 60 horses and mules, terrified by the noise of the firing, stampeded thru the fort.

Despite the gallant attempt to hold the fortress, first by Gen. Maletti and then by his second in command, Col. Carmelo Giuffrida, the Italian surrender was inevitable, what with British tanks tearing around inside the camp and infantry following with machine guns, rifle fire, and bayonets.

Once the British were inside, the Italians had only the protection of their tents and trenches and a few dugouts.

"Many of the men jumped into refuse trenches," an Italian surgeon who is still here caring for the wounded told me. "They didn't know it but they were jumping into their own graves, because the shells came pouring into the trenches after them.

"Shrapnel hit the medicine chest and when a vat of creosote burst the men thought it was poison gas."

Many Italians Killed.

A considerable number of Italians were killed here, 300 wounded and 2,000 captured. Not a man escaped. The full Fascist unit, which comprised two battalions of Libyans, and tank corps, motor transport corps, armored car corps, artillery and engineers, was in the fortress at the time of the attack.

Leaving a small detachment behind, the British moved northward 10 miles to the east and west forts at Tummar where the Italians, now aware of the British drive, offered longer but no more effective resistance than the men at Nibeiwa.

The way to Sidi Barrani was then open.

Other British units meanwhile had gone along the coastline and were battling at Maktila, 10 miles east of Sidi Barrani, and still others had shot clear thru to the sea west of Sidi Barrani.

Demand Italians Surrender.

Two Blackshirt legions and a Libyan division in Sidi Barrani thus were encircled by Monday night, some 12 hours after the fighting began.

At Habsa the British tanks sent a message to the Italians before attacking demanding their surrender. The reply was that they would resist.

"They must have had their white flags ready, however, as they waved them after we had fired only a few shots," a British officer told me.

Nibeiwa's 2,000 prisoners were moved behind the lines in a seemingly endless procession of trucks, many of them Italian. In many cases the Italians drove to prison camps without guards. There was little danger of them escaping since escape into this desert would have meant only death.

Happy Fighting Was Ended.

Some of the prisoners, especially the Fascist Blackshirts, were crestfallen over their defeat and said bitterly they wished they had died fighting. But many others, including practically all the Libyans, seemed glad the war was over for them.

The British moved the wounded in ambulances, leaving others in Nibeiwa's tent hospital, where British and Italian surgeons worked together.

Vast stocks of food, including several tons of spaghetti, stored at Nibeiwa, were taken over to feed the prisoners. The refuse trenches provided graves for the dead. Gen. Maletti was laid out in state before his tent before burial.

Lands Plane Upside Down in Pond; Rescued by Police

New York, Dec. 15 (AP).—Robert Addison and William Parmelee made a forced airplane landing upside down in the middle of a pond and were rescued unhurt—with a ladder. Addison, mechanic whose pilot's license was issued last Friday, the 13th, made for a Bronx field after his motor quit aloft. The field wasn't big enough, and the plane, bouncing over a hummock, landed in the pond. The pair sat on the wreckage until police made a bridge to land with a ladder.

John Layton, Billiard Expert, Hit by Street Car

John Layton, 51, of 2026 North Clark street, former world's three-cushion billiard champion, was taken to Augustana hospital with internal injuries last night after he and a woman companion were hit by a streetcar in front of 2054 North Clark. The woman, Miss Evelyn Hunt, 34, of 736 Wrightwood avenue, was not seriously hurt. The motorman, Mathew Markus, told police the two jumped back in front of him as a car approached on the other track.

Wife Held Up in Hallway as Husband Parks Car

Mrs. Tilly Tick, 28 years old, 19 North Latrobe avenue, was robbed of three rings valued at $650 and $5 cash last night by two robbers who accosted her in the hallway of her apartment building. They cut her hand slightly in their hurry to strip off the rings. Her husband, Leon, an insurance salesman, was putting his car away when the robbery occurred. He told police the insurance on the rings had just expired.

TELLS ARMY PLAN TO INSURE SAFETY OF NEW ENGLAND

Gen. Woodruff Says Area Is 'Fairly' Secure.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., Dec. 15.—What steps are being taken to defend New England—this country's historic gateway for invasion—in event of war?

Maj. Gen. Woodruff.

Maj. Gen. James A. Woodruff, commander of the 1st corps area and the man most responsible for strengthening defenses in this northeast corner of the nation, answered that all is being done that can be done to protect New England where the ramparts have been allowed to decay since the world war.

"I believe, under present conditions, the people in New England should feel fairly secure," said Gen. Woodruff.

Gen. Woodruff said coast artillery forts are being repaired, modernized, and garrisoned from Portland, Me., to Long Island sound. If an enemy force should manage to get by the United States navy it would have to establish a beachhead at some isolated spot, he declared. Then the invader would have to contend with the regular army's streamlined divisions, backed by the National Guard and draftees.

Guns 40 Years Old.

Most of the coastal defense units emplaced in harbors along New England's shores date back to the world war. Some are 40 years old. But the army is modernizing these batteries as rapidly as possible, said Gen. Woodruff.

According to the general's estimate, it will require two years to "fully modernize" the harbor defenses. Only two new forts are under construction. They are at the two points guarding the harbor mouth at Narragansett bay, Rhode Island's important naval anchorage. This bay is the home of the new naval air base at Quonset Point, a torpedo station, the naval war college and training station.

At present there is only one coast artillery battery in the area which has a range of 40,000 yards and can outgun a modern battleship. This is in one of the 10 forts guarding historic Boston harbor, where the Charlestown navy yard, South Boston dry dock and Fore River shipyard are located. Boston, "hub" of New England, is a teeming industrial and commercial center with a population of 818,000.

Other Ports Fortified.

There are five coastal forts at Portland; four at Portsmouth, N. H.; one at New Bedford, Mass.; four at Newport [Narragansett bay], besides the two building; and three off New London, Conn., guarding the entrance to Long Island sound and the water approach to New York City. The last named are located on Fishers, Plum, and Great Gull Islands.

From Maj. Gen. Thomas A. Terry, who assumed command of the New England harbor defenses in September, it was learned that the forts are manned by approximately 7,000 coast artillerymen of the regular army and National Guard. He said they will be garrisoned at their full strength, about twice the present number, by next summer.

Army tacticians believe the obvious objective of an invading force would be to knock out the area of Boston, Worcester, Springfield, Pittsfield, Waterbury, Hartford, Bridgeport, New Haven, and Providence. The country's ability to resist would be diminished tremendously if this "solar plexus" blow were administered.

Sinews of War Produced.

Bunched in this area are the factories producing small arms and ammunition, airplane engines and propellers, machine tools, projectiles and fuses for cannon, finished uniforms, shoes, antiaircraft cannon and carriages, fire control equipment, and many other instruments of warfare.

History has shown the natural gateway for invasion from across the Atlantic is via the St. Lawrence, Champlain, and Hudson river valleys. Army experts are of the opinion, however, that the bombing plane will render impossible the transport of troops and supplies via the narrow, tortuous channel in the St. Lawrence from Quebec to Montreal.

It is deemed possible that land operations by motorized troops might start from Quebec and enter New England via the Connecticut river valley. To stave off such an offensive, the army is building a huge new air base for "flying fortress" bombing planes on an old tobacco plantation near the Connecticut river at Chicopee, Mass.

6 Years a-Building.

There is much criticism in and out of the army concerning the slowness with which the quartermaster construction corps is proceeding with the base at Chicopee, known as Westover Field. The project was started in October, 1939, and is expected to take six years for completion at the present rate.

When this correspondent visited Chicopee a few days ago, he found work going ahead on the five hangars, but none of them finished. These hangars will be used for repairs and maintenance only. The big bombers will be staked outside on the 700 foot wide concrete apron leading to the runway and will be scattered all over the 4,300 acre reservation if an enemy air attack comes.

Two runways were completed during the summer, but the quartermaster corps is calling them "experimental." One of them, constructed on a "soil cement stabilization" scheme, showed large cracks from one side to the other. The runway was formed thru mixing the soil with cement.

Only one plane, an attack ship, has arrived at Westover Field so far. It is used for messages, taxiing army dignitaries around the east and to give some of the army flyers their required number of hours.

NAZI DEBT SOARS 42 MILLION DAILY DURING 3 MONTHS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Dec. 15.—Figures on the actual cost of the war are kept secret, but part of it can be computed from a study of official statements about the increase in Germany's public debt in three months ended Sept. 30.

These statements reveal an increase in Germany's funded and floating debt of $42,000,000 a day in this period. During the same three months, the German federal tax collector was taking in $33,000,000 daily.

Since Sept. 30, big financial transactions have taken place. Whereas the first six issues of reich treasury certificates aggregated only slightly more than $2,000,000,000, the seventh issue placed since Sept. 30 is estimated by German experts to have netted $800,000,000.

14 NAVY RESERVE DIVISIONS CALLED TO ACTIVE DUTY

Fourteen reserve divisions, each comprising from 83 to 104 men and 4 officers, have been called to active duty with the Pacific fleet by the 9th naval district board and will leave for the west coast between today and Wednesday.

The 24th and 25th divisions of Chicago will be the first to leave today. Both will report at Mare Island in San Francisco bay. The 26th division of Chicago leaves tomorrow and the 23d division Wednesday. Divisions have also been called up from Milwaukee, Burlington, Ia.; Kansas City, Mo.; St. Louis, Detroit, Rock Island, Columbus, O., and Madison, Wis.

The new order brings up nearly half the 5,200 active reservists in the 9th district. All 52 divisions in the district eventually will be called to duty.

AMERICA FIRST LEADER WARNS OF WAR MONGERS

Aid-to-Allies Group Cited by Gen. Hammond.

Brig. Gen. Thomas S. Hammond, chairman of the Chicago chapter of the America First committee, warned last night that young Americans will be sent to die on three continents if the counsel of extremists associated with the William Allen White committee prevails.

Gen. Hammond's statement was made in reply to one by Herbert Agar, editor of the Louisville [Ky.] Courier-Journal, who will speak in Chicago tonight under auspices of the White committee—the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies.

This organization, the leading advocate of intervention in the European war, has urged aid to Great Britain on a scale which the America First committee believes would lead the United States into war and weaken the national defense.

Agar Admits Stand.

Agar, in response to a challenge by Gen. Hammond that he say openly in his address here that he favors entrance into Europe's war, admitted Saturday that he had taken that position since June 10 and felt that Gen. Hammond and the White committee were equally in error in thinking the United States was not in the war now. He added, however, that it was "silly" to ascribe his opinions to the White committee.

"If this is war," Gen. Hammond said in reply, "Sherman didn't know what he was talking about. It certainly is not the kind of war I went thru in the Rainbow division.

"But Mr. Agar is unduly modest when he says that his opinions cannot be ascribed to the White committee. He and others favoring a declaration of war are the intellectual advance guard of the White committee.

Standley's Views Cited.

"The committee's favorite military expert, Admiral William H. Standley, whom it constantly quotes in support of measures short of war, also is actually in favor of a declaration of war. These men would hardly be supporters of the White committee program unless they knew that this program led straight to war.

"Most fantastic of all is Mr. Agar's assurance that, while he favors war now, he does not advocate sending American troops abroad. Our participation in the present war would mean an A. E. F. not only in Europe but also in North Africa and in Asia. It would not be an easy war that could be won by firing a few naval salvos and dropping a few bombs. It would be a hard and long war, with American boys dying all over the face of the earth."

The first big Chicago rally of the America First committee will be held Wednesday night in Orchestra hall. Gen. Robert E. Wood, national chairman, will preside and John T. Flynn, New York author, will speak.

ASK EMERGENCY RULE

Princeton, N. J., Dec. 15 (AP).—A plea for a declaration in the United States of "a state of emergency which will be equivalent to full industrial, military, and naval mobilization" was contained in a statement issued today by 34 Princeton scholars and sent to President Roosevelt.

"Without Stint or Limit."

Adding that "the interests of the United States dictate that Germany shall not win," the declaration said. "Only by an American effort without stint or limit can a German victory be prevented."

Among the signers were Frank Aydelotte, 60 years old, director of the institute for advanced study; Luther P. Eisenhart, 63, dean of the Princeton Graduate school; Christian Gauss, 61, dean of the college; Robert K. Root, 63, dean of the faculty; Kenneth H. Condit, 51, dean of the school of engineering, and Edward Capps, 74, professor of classics and former United States minister to Greece.

Butler Makes Statement.

New York, Dec. 15 (AP). — Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, today described the theory of national isolation as "fatuous folly" and "profound immorality."

"There are and can be no Robinson Crusoe nations in this modern world," he said in his annual report to the trustees of the university. "Not only is an important happening in any nation known the world around in a few minutes, but the comfort, the satisfaction, as well as the economic and social life of any people are dependent upon its membership in a society of nations."

Stand of Southerners.

Southern Pines, N. C., Dec. 15.—Asserting that "It is both foolish and fatal to half protect our interests," a southern conference called by the southern policy committee today urged "immediate full capacity mobilization of all necessary resources" to aid Great Britain.

The statement said further:

"To preserve ourselves and the British commonwealth in spirit and in truth demands that we recognize that these two remaining strong democracies [the United States and Great Britain] have a common enemy as well as common institutions of freedom."

Some of the Signers.

Among the signers were:

Barry Bingham, 33 years old, newspaper publisher, Louisville, Ky.; James Boyd, 52, author, Southern Pines; R. Preston Brooks, 59, economist, Athens, Ga.; Struthers Burt, 58, author, Southern Pines; Judge H. G. Cochran, 55, Norfolk, Va.; Mark Ethridge, 44, newspaper executive, Louisville; Judge Blanton Fortson, 58, Athens; George Watts Hill, 39, banker and farmer, Durham, N. C.; Herbert Sebastian Agar, 43, news paper editor, Louisville; Frank P. Graham, 54, university president, Chapel Hill, N. C.; Katherine Newland Burt, 58, author, Southern Pines, and Louis Isaac Jaffe, 51, newspaper editor, Norfolk.

Mrs. Roosevelt Urges All to Sacrifice for Defense

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15 (AP).—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, participating in a forum discussion of the question: "Must defense lower living standards?" said living standards should be maintained, but that some sacrifices will be necessary.

She said that all sections of the nation's economy must expect to make equal sacrifices and suggested that a "ceiling" be placed on prices and profits to prevent excessive living costs, particularly for housing.

REPORT FRANCE BARS NAZI ARMY PATH TO LIBYA

Swiss Told Petain Balks at Use of Port.

BERNE, Switzerland, Dec. 16, Monday (AP).—A reported German attempt to send Nazi troops thru France to Libya and Greece to help Italy was declared today to have been rebuffed by France with a flat "no" from Chief of State Marshal Philippe Petain.

Petain and a majority of his ministers were said in advices from Vichy to diplomatic sources here to have considered the German move, which was reported to have been made thru Vice Premier Pierre Laval before he was ousted on Friday from the French government, as an axis attempt to gain a foothold on France's Mediterranean bases.

The Germans, it was reported, sounded out Laval while he still was the vice premier in an attempt to find means of sending aid to the Italians, hard pressed by the British and Greeks, without passing thru Italy.

Guard Italians' "Morale."

It was feared, these reports said, that passage of troops thru Premier Benito Mussolini's country to bulwark Italian forces in Greece and Africa would have a bad effect on Italian morale.

Germany, it was reported, wanted to send troops thru unoccupied France to a French Mediterranean port, where they would be picked up, apparently, by Italian transports.

The reports received here said Marshal Petain refused the request on the grounds that the only port thru which such troops could board Italian transports secretly would be the Toulon naval base.

It was said the marshal previously had refused a suggestion by Laval that France's naval bases, including Toulon, be made available for axis use.

French leaders acted quickly to consolidate their new government following Laval's ouster. Some apparently were fearful that Germany eventually may occupy all France. To observers outside, however, such action seemed unlikely, for the present at least.

Petain Revises Rule.

VICHY, France, Dec. 15 (AP).—Continuing the overhauling that began with the ouster of Pierre Laval as vice premier and foreign minister, the Vichy government announced today it soon would organize a consultative assembly to share certain responsibilities with the chief of state, Marshal Petain, and his ministers.

The marshal's own creation, the assembly will act solely as an advisory body and only when he asks for its counsel.

Now that the most essential reforms, "which by reason of circumstance could not easily have been submitted to prolonged discussion," have been made by decree, it was said future problems will be taken up with the assembly.

Represents "All Orders."

Interior Minister Marcel Peyrouton said the new assembly will include "political bodies which group leaders of all orders."

Reorganization also hit the Compagnie Generale Transatlantique, which, as the French line, operated North Atlantic liners. The president of the line will be named by the finance and naval ministers, who will approve selection of the general director and his assistant.

Ten members will form the administrative council of the line, eight appointed by the two ministers and two by stockholders.

Another decree provided that firms hiring labor must take on a percentage of demobilized soldiers.

Vichy's political temperature had cooled down after the crisis that edged Laval out of the government.

GERMAN FLYERS BOMB BRITAIN IN MOONLIGHT RAID

Renew Attacks After 24 Hour Lapse.

LONDON, Dec. 16, Monday (AP).—Brilliant moonlight showed the way for widespread Nazi air raids over Britain last night but they never reached the "blitz" proportions of earlier provincial attacks and faded out before midnight. It was believed that mist in France cut short the Nazi air activity.

During the attacks, gunfire was almost incessant in one Midlands town. Watchers in an east Midlands town reported hearing sounds of aerial combat and air raid wardens said they believed machine gun tracer bullets seen in the sky were from a British fighter plane chasing a raider.

Over Liverpool and London.

Serious fires were caused in the east Midlands town in a raid concentrated on industrial quarters. Many incendiary bombs struck neighboring villages where some damage was done, but the casualties were said to have been few.

Hostile planes also were reported over Liverpool and a northwest town, the northern Midlands, and a southeast coast town.

London heard antiaircraft fire in its first raid in nearly 24 hours but the firing subsided and the "all clear" sounded after prolonged quiet.

London reported that British bombers made "prolonged attacks" on targets in the Berlin area last night.

Attempt to Attack Berlin.

BERLIN, Dec. 16, Monday (AP).—British planes attempted to attack Berlin overnight, a communique reported early today, but most were driven off by heavy antiaircraft fire, it was stated. Only a few planes managed to fly over a suburb of the capital, where they dropped propaganda leaflets, the communique said.

A factory at Stoke-on-Trent, England, was bombed by a single German plane and set on fire Saturday night in one of the few raids against the British, authorized sources reported.

British Navy Launches a 'Formidable Addition'

LONDON, Dec. 16, Monday (AP).—The authoritative Press association said today "a formidable addition" to the British royal navy was launched recently. The ship was reported to be a fast vessel but its exact speed was not disclosed.

FOOD PROFITEERS AT WORK? BRITAIN TRIES TO FIND OUT

Probes Soaring Prices of Unrationed Goods.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 15.—Ministry of food investigators tomorrow are expected to report on food profiteers, who are said to be making fortunes in fruit, fish, tinned goods, and other unrationed foods.

The food ministry has received hundreds of complaints against swiftly rising prices on products like lemons and onions, the prices of which are fixed, and the complete disappearance of these items from the market.

Just before the control price for lemons was introduced, these were selling as high as 1 shilling each [about 20 cents]. The government fixed the price at about 2 pence each [about 3½ cents]. The result was that lemons disappeared from the market. Many hotels and swankier restaurants seemed to be able to obtain large supplies. Investigators are attempting to ascertain whether "illegal prices" are a factor.

Apples 33 Cents a Pound.

Despite a warning that apple prices soon may be fixed, they now are selling at 1 shilling 8 pence [about 33 cents] a pound. Tinned pineapple, which was 1 shilling [about 20 cents] a can a fortnight ago was raised to 2 shillings 4 pence [about 47 cents].

Other increases in tinned goods since two weeks ago are:

Small cans of madarin orange slices, from 4½ pence to 10 pence [8 cents to 17 cents]; tinned pears, from 10½ pence to 2 shillings [18 cents to 40 cents]; apricots, from 8 pence to 22 pence [13 cents to 37 cents].

Fish selling a month ago at 1 shilling to 1 shilling 4 pence a pound [20 to 27 cents] now has been raised to 2 shillings 4 pence to 2 shillings 8 pence [47 to 53 cents].

[Prices paid by Chicago housewives generally are far below those demanded in London for similar commodities. Good lemons may be had for 30 cents a dozen. Apples sell for from 5 to 8½ cents a pound. Large cans of pineapple range from 15 cents a can for the cheap grades to about 25 cents. Large cans of apricots sell for 21 to 35 cents.]

Shortage of Tobacco.

The Sunday Express complained that shortages already are being felt in tobacco and sweets. Suspicion was voiced that some "hidden hand" is buying up supplies and waiting to release them for higher prices.

Lord Woolton, the food minister, asserted that the shortage of meat rations was not due as much to shipping losses as internal transport problems, which also were interfering with coal distribution, altho millions of tons are lying at pitheads.

London laundry owners have given notice that their reserve coal stocks are dwindling. The head of one big concern declared that "laundries have been deprived of supplies in favor of other industries. Recently 10 trucks being delivered to me were diverted en route to a public utility."

HIT-RUN DEER DENTS AUTO.

Riverhead, N. Y., Dec. 15 (AP).—Police listed a "hit-and-run deer" today on their "watch for" blotter after a young woman motorist reported one had struck and dented the side of her car as she drove along a wooded highway.

Shipping Losses: Two Versions

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Dec. 15.—Britain's shipping losses now exceed 500,000 tons monthly, according to German figures disclosed today. The Nazis claim to have sunk 250,000 tons in the first week of December.

"The moment can be foreseen when the British losses become intolerable, especially because of the growth of the German submarine fleet, which is beginning to become effective," Rear Admiral Gadow, a German naval expert has declared.

Do Not Include Mine Figures.

The German figures do not include the shipping losses caused by the extensive laying of mines by U-boats and planes. The Nazis assert the British hush up these losses. The British announcement of the sinking of the Oslofjord, Norway's biggest liner, last week was only an exception to prove the rule, it is asserted.

German newspapers gave much display to pictures of the sinking by U-boats of two British 10,000 ton ships, the Orari and the Western Prince, which were torpedoed in the Atlantic.

The activities of German auxiliary cruisers, the Germans assert, have led to an almost complete paralysis of British shipping in the South Atlantic. A dispatch from Rio de Janeiro was printed here saying that only one British vessel had arrived there in four weeks.

Danger in Distant Waters.

The damage that German raiders can do to shipping by laying mines in distant waters is cited by a world war comparison. Then the auxiliary cruiser Wolf, on a cruise lasting 15 months, captured 38,000 tons of allied shipping and laid mines which sank 74,000 tons besides damaging 35,000 tons more.

The Germans, therefore, assume that the German surface raider now active under the command of Capt. Rogge, which in this war is credited with sinking 94,000 tons of British shipping in a few months, also has laid mines which may prove even costlier.

LONDON, Dec. 15 (AP).—The axis blockade is costing Britain approximately 62,000 tons of shipping weekly, a maritime source said today, adding "this is not going to slow down our war effort altho we may have to tighten our belts."

If an answer to the shipping raiders is not found in more destroyers for convoy duty or in permission to use Irish ports, this source said, Britain would simply "put guns before butter."

Try to Persuade Irish.

An unspecified number of destroyers are under construction, and the effort to persuade the Irish to permit Britain to use their seaports is continuing.

"We really haven't felt any pinch from rationing yet," the source said. "We have stocks on hand in quantities we never had in the world war. If the shipping situation becomes worse we can decrease luxury imports in proportion to the ships lost so that the flow of war materials won't suffer and we can make ends meet for a mighty long time."

Several factors contribute to the British shipping difficulties which already have led to a reduction in meat rations and fruit imports as well as official warnings of possible stricter future rationing.

Nazis Active on Wider Scope.

One of the foremost factors, the maritime source said, is the axis control of convenient Bay of Biscay ports of France giving the axis a wider scope of operations than Germany had in the world war.

Still another difficulty confronting Britain is that she had at the start of this war only about half as many destroyers as she had in 1918, while the navy has about three times as much work to do.

On the brighter side, the source said, Britain now has a rationing system in good working order, dietary programs which give people adequate vitamins and good stocks on hand.

"That's a different situation from that of the last months of the world war when we barely got rationing started and at one time had only about three weeks' supplies on hand," the source said.

DEMANDS UNION MARCH TO HALT 'DRIVE FOR WAR'

New York, Dec. 15 (AP).—The National Maritime union [C. I. O.] called today for a "gigantic people's march on Washington from every large city in the United States to halt the administration's drive toward war."

Frederick M. Myers, N. M. U. field organizer, said a conference of trade union figures would be called within the next two weeks to initiate the march.

He said the march would have as its immediate objectives "the defeat of the Smith 'anti-strike' bill and the halting of war loans to Britain and the sale of American ships to belligerents."

PARIS GETS BODY OF NAPOLEON'S SON, HITLER GIFT

Petain Absent; Navy Chief Receives Remains.

PARIS [via Berlin], Dec. 15 (AP).—"L'Aiglon" [the Little Eagle], only legitimate son of Napoleon Bonaparte, came home today midst torchlit ceremonies indicating his present political importance, altho he has been dead more than a century and his father's great empire is only a memory.

Otto Abetz.

Dignitaries of Germany and France solemnly accompanied the remains of "L'Aiglon," once known as the boy king of Rome and later as the duke of Reichstadt, to Les Invalides, where the remains will lie beside those of his father under the great dome of the museum.

It was Hitler's personal wish that "L'Aiglon" be brought back to Paris from his resting place in Vienna on the 100th anniversary of the return of Napoleon's ashes from St. Helena.

Naval Chief Receives Body.

Otto Abetz, Hitler's ambassador in Paris, officially turned over the coffin to Admiral Jean Darlan, French naval secretary and personal representative of the French chief of state, Marshal Philippe Petain, who remained in Vichy.

Admiral Darlan laid a wreath upon the coffin as it rested before the altar of the parish church in Les Invalides.

Fernand de Brinon, French ambassador, thanked Abetz for the gesture by Hitler, which De Brinon said was that of a great leader.

The body reached Paris shortly after midnight. By the light of torches German officers who brought it from the old Austrian capital turned it over to a detachment of German soldiers at the station. Then began a slow trip from the station to Les Invalides, with the coffin resting on a gun carriage.

Guarded Thru Night.

In front of Les Invalides, in the light of torches held by French gendarmes, stood Abetz, to whom the German escort delivered the coffin. Then Abetz delivered the body to the representatives of the French government and it was borne, as trumpets sounded, into the great building by the gendarmes. After a short prayer by a priest, gendarmes stationed a guard of honor for the night.

At a press conference before the body arrived, Abetz declared Napoleon was the "precursor of the present revolution."

The return of the duke's body, accompanied by that of his mother, Napoleon's second wife, Marie Louise of Austria, gave reality to a dream of Frenchmen. When Napoleon abdicated in favor of his son, then 3 years old, the boy was taken by his mother, Marie Louise, to Vienna.

Bonaparte escaped from Elba and, during the 100 days leading up to Waterloo, an attempt to kidnap the prince and take him to his father failed. Napoleon did not want the boy to be brought up as a Hapsburg prince.

The prince ultimately was deprived by his mother's house of title to her duchy of Parma and, as compensation, was made duke of Reichstadt. He died in 1832 at the age of 21 and was buried in the Hapsburg family vault beneath Vienna's Capuchin church.

[The name "L'Aiglon" as applied to the duke of Reichstadt appears to have been a poetic conception of the dramatist, Edmond Rostand. The youth's unhappy life was the subject of Rostand's tragedy "L'Aiglon," in which Sarah Bernhardt starred.]

DUCHESS WALLY HAS RELAPSE AND RETURNS TO BED

Miami, Fla., Dec. 15.—The duchess of Windsor, who underwent a major dental operation last Tuesday, has returned to bed on her doctor's instructions.

It was understood that the excitement of leaving St. Francis hospital at Miami Beach yesterday and moving to a Coral Gables hotel caused the loosening of a blood clot which forms after such operations. Considerable pain resulted and Dr. Horace L. Cartee instructed her last night to remain in bed at least 24 hours. Her condition was not considered serious.

Despite the developments, it was announced by Capt. Vyvyan Drury, the duke's aide-de-camp, that the duke and duchess and their party plan to sail for Nassau Tuesday afternoon on the Southern Cross, luxury yacht owned by Axel Wenner-Gren, Swedish industrialist.

ITALIANS THROW RESERVES INTO LIBYAN BATTLE

Admit British Are Beyond Egyptian Frontier.

ROME, Dec. 15 (AP).—Italy's desert legions, beaten back into Libya in bloody hand to hand and mechanized fighting, drew today on reserves to stem Britain's Egyptian counteroffensive.

Observers in Rome believed that the fate of the Fascist African empire hung on the outcome of the war in the wastelands.

Official communiques indicated that the three month old Italian invasion of Egypt had been turned into a stubborn defense of Italian held Libya, at the sandstorm swept northern junction of the Egyptian-Libyan frontiers.

Warships Hit at Naples.

From other sectors of Italy's war, at home, in Albania, and at sea along the African battle front, came these reports:

That an Italian warship of "medium tonnage" had been hit by R. A. F. bombs in one of three raids last night on Naples, with "unimportant damage" but death or injury to 50 crewmen and injury to eight civilians.

That the Italian submarine Neghelli had sunk a British cruiser of the Southampton [9,100 ton] class off the Egyptian coast.

That Greek attacks "in various sectors" of Albania had been thrown back by Italian counterattacks, while Fascist airmen bombed Greek troop concentrations and other objectives, including a viaduct on the Salonika-Athens railway line.

Admit Loss of Sidi Barrani.

The candor and detail of the high command's communiques were unusual. The main report acknowledged that Sidi Barrani, once the advance base of the Italian expedition into Egypt, had been abandoned. A supplement said that "as always our war bulletins tell the entire truth in good as well as bad fortune."

The two reviews told of unslackened British pressure and said the fiercest fighting was raging in the zone of Sollum, Bardia, and Fort Capuzzo. Of these, only Sollum is in Egypt.

Eleven British planes were reported shot down in flames by Italian fighters yesterday and 12 the day before, as against a loss of 6 Italian bombers. British planes attacked Tripoli, Libya, 700 miles west of the border battle zone, and Bardia, Italian coastal base near the Egyptian border.

Claim Adequate Forces.

The high command said that "all speculations, enemy propaganda, and guesses regarding the great battle in course on the Cirenaican border [Cirenaica is part of Libya] would secm premature."

"This battle will last several days yet, maybe even more than a week. It therefore is necessary that calm, impartial observers reserve their judgment. It is believed that Italian forces actually engaged in fighting and those large numbers which are in reserve are more than enough to meet the situation.

"With special reference to today's war bulletin, there is emphasized again the truthfulness of our communiques which mention even heavy damage suffered."

British Across Border.

CAIRO, Dec. 15 (AP).—British forces were reported tonight to have carried their lightning desert offensive over the Egytian frontier into Libya. "It is well nigh impossible to give an accurate idea where the front line is," a military spokesman said, "but it can be assumed that some British forces already have crossed the border."

A communique indicated the British situation was "satisfactory." Some Italians, however, were believed holding out in small forts in the Egyption coastal sector.

[British warships poured shells into Italian positions along the coast all night long, said a Reuters, British news agency, dispatch from Cairo received early this morning in London. Under this incessant bombardment, the Italians were "frantically" trying to consolidate defenses in an attempt to withstand an onslaught by British land troops, the dispatch said.]

The royal air force was still pounding Italian airdromes and troops, and a communique said the R. A. F. shot down 26 Fascist planes yesterday and destroyed two others on the ground. One British squadron alone shot down 14 big trimotored Savoia bombers and four Fiat fighters. Three British planes were reported missing.

Sink Italian U-Boat.

LONDON, Dec. 15 (AP).—The sinking of an Italian submarine by British destroyers in operations off the Sidi Barrani-Bardia battle zone in Africa was announced tonight by the admiralty. The communique said that the Italian submarine Nalade "attempted to interfere" with a night warship bombardment of Bardia, Italian coastal base in Libya, and was immediately sunk by British destroyers.

DROWNS IN CAR ACCIDENT.

Brookport, Ill., Dec. 15 (AP).—Otis Mescher, 18 years old, of Metropolis, drowned today when his automobile overturned in a waterfilled ditch near here. The car skidded on the wet pavement.

How British Maneuvered in 'Blitz'

Captions on this map indicate by numbers the order of action which culminated in capture of Sidi Barrani and led to campaign which drove Italians out of Egypt.

GREEK OFFENSIVE ROLLING AGAIN AS WEATHER CLEARS

ATHENS, Dec. 15 (AP).—Hampered for almost a week by snow and rain, the Greek counterinvasion of Albania is back in high gear under clearing skies, with gains all along the line, dispatches from the front reported tonight.

The largest Greek advances appeared to be on the northern front, beyond Pogradetz, where the Italian line runs along the Jugo-Slav-Albanian frontier.

"In the northern sector, as soon as the weather improved and snowstorms subsided," one dispatch said, "our units launched new attacks and made gains equal to one entire week's activity.

Artillery Smashes Forts.

"On the northern front, Greek troops succeeded in making a general advance over a wide area in a mountainous region held by the enemy above Pogradetz where the Italians had concentrated all their reserves.

"Greek artillery, firing unceasingly for three days, has succeeded in its main objective, particularly in regard to permanent enemy fortifications along the Jugo-Slav-Albanian frontier and has smashed them.

"In this manner, the way was opened for stormy charges by Greek infantry in this direction."

No exact locations were permitted to be mentioned in reports of Greek advances on the southern and central fronts.

Greek forces are "constantly" pushing toward Valona, one report said, and are converging into a single line in order to mop up and hold captured territory. "Further to the north," it said, Greek attacks are aimed at "strategically important heights still held by the enemy."

British Raid Valona.

Air forces of both sides were active. Extensive Italian raids over the battle zone were acknowledged but reports from the front said Italian flyers avoided engaging Greek warplanes.

A British royal air force communique reported two raids Saturday on Valona, Albania's chief port.

"In a fierce attack," it said, "bombs fell among military stores in a motor transport park and army barracks were seen to be hit.

"In a second attack an airdrome was bombed, all bombs falling in the target area and enemy aircraft about to take off spun around on their wingtips and stopped."

U. S. AND MEXICO BEGIN WORK ON DEFENSE PACT

Investment Guarantees Reported Discussed.

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 15 (AP).—A mutual defense understanding between Mexico and the United States, expected to shape into a far-reaching program of military and economic collaboration within the next year, was reported unofficially today to be under discussion between Mexico City and Washington.

A source close to the administration of President Manuel Avila Camacho described the two governments as moving cautiously toward an understanding under which:

1. Financial assistance from the United States might be accepted for improvement of existing naval bases, which would be at the disposal of the United States fleet for servicing, refueling, and repairs.

2. Mexican air bases might be enlarged and made available for United States short range fighter planes operating between the United States and the Panama Canal Zone, or to naval planes in support of the fleet in the event of actual warfare off Mexico's Pacific coast, in the Gulf of Mexico, or in the Caribbean sea.

Other Problems Discussed.

Linked to these discussions, this source said, further conversations are under way contemplating a border agreement patterned after that between the United States and Canada, possible transfer of four United States destroyers to Mexico, limited mechanization of the Mexican army with United States financial aid, exchange of naval, air, and army officers for a better understanding of defense problems, and Mexican guarantees to United States capital for investment in Mexico.

It was emphasized that no concrete agreement has been reached on any phase of the discussions and, this source declared, no United States administration, control, construction, or leasing of bases in Mexico is contemplated.

The discussions were said to be centering in Washington in a relay of opinions between the United States state department and President Camacho thru Francisco Castillo Najera, Mexican ambassador to Washington.

Avoid Hasty Action.

It was said distrust of the United States is still deep seated in some Mexicans, and that neither government desired to act in haste.

Mexican naval bases, which this source said might be improved with United States financial help, probably would be those at Puerto Magdalena, Lower California, and at Acapulco, on the Pacific coast of the state of Guerrero.

Air base facilities, it was said, might be expanded at Hermosillo, Guaymas, Mazatlan, and Tapachula, forming a chain across Mexico from the United States to Guatemala.

An anchorage for light naval craft and an air base for naval planes have been suggested at Mujeres island, just off the Yucatan peninsula.

Mexican Bases Under Discussion

(Story in adjoining column.)

Mexican naval and air bases which might be expanded and improved with United States financial help under proposed understanding being discussed by representatives of the two nations. If agreement is reached the United States may be given rights to use bases.

PROBE CONDUCT OF POLICEMAN IN A TAVERN BRAWL

Capt. Charles Pawlowski of the Shakespeare avenue police station yesterday was investigating the conduct of Policeman Earl Bushnell after an early morning brawl in front of a tavern at 2942 Milwaukee avenue in which one man was shot.

The victim, John Lynch, 37 years old, 2910 North Long avenue, was taken to St. Anne's hospital with a wound in his neck. Stanley Hall, 35, of 3625 North Nordica avenue, Lynch's companion, was charged with assault and battery and freed on $50 bond.

Lieut. James T. O'Brien, who ordered Bushnell brought in from his home at 2242 North Monticello avenue for questioning, said the policeman had gone off duty at midnight. Then, as Lieut. O'Brien got the story, Bushnell went to the tavern to call for his wife, Mae, a waitress there. Shortly afterwards, Lieut. O'Brien was told, Lynch and Hall tried to enter the tavern and Bushnell went outside where a quarrel started.

Bushnell asserted he was set upon by seven or eight men, knocked to the pavement, then fired a warning shot. He did not report the shooting.

APARTMENT HOUSE ROBBED.

A bandit took $136 from the cash drawer at the Essex apartments, 6230 Dorchester avenue, last night after threatening the night clerk, Edward McQuillen, 25.

GIRL TRUDGES 12 ICY MILES; WINS A TITLE

Jerseyville, Ill., Dec. 15 [Special].—Melva Gunther, 14 years old, is a good walker and a good speller. That's how she happened to win herself a Christmas present of a trip to Springfield.

An 8th grader, she recently won the spelling championship of her district and became eligible for the Jersey county contest held here yesterday. However, her parents' farm is on a rural road which, because of construction work and three days of sleet and snow, was impassable to traffic. Melva walked six hard, cold miles into town. And she won the county spelling championship. And she walked six hard, cold miles home.

But she won't have to walk Dec. 26, when she will represent her county in the state spelling contest at Springfield.

PRESIDENT TO GO SOUTH AGAIN 'IF WORLD SURVIVES'

Gets Report by Phone from Hull; Leaves Georgia.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Aboard Presidential Special En Route to Washington, D. C., Dec. 15.—President Roosevelt headed toward the national capital tonight after making the gloomy promise that he will visit the infantile paralysis colony he founded at Warm Springs, Ga., next spring "if the world survives."

The qualification came as the one solemn note of a brief visit to the health community at the conclusion of his 4,000 mile fishing trip and inspection tour of Caribbean bases acquired from Great Britain.

At a luncheon, arranged to compensate the community's patients for his absence at the annual founder's day dinner, held every Thanksgiving day, Mr. Roosevelt said:

"I hope to be down here next March, without any question if the world survives, for my usual two weeks in the spring."

Receives Lengthy Report.

The statement was regarded as significant, because on his arrival at Warm Springs at 9 a. m. from Charleston, S. C., where he disembarked from the U. S. S. Tuscaloosa late yesterday, Mr. Roosevelt held a lengthy long distance telephone conversation with Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

Hull delivered a full report on world developments which came during the President's cruise. He amplified the radioed reports he had sent the President to the naval cruiser.

Today marked the second time Mr. Roosevelt has essayed the rôle of prophet in his "other home." In the spring of 1939 at the conclusion of one of his visits he told a crowd gathered to see him off that he would be back that fall "unless we have a war."

Absent This Year.

War came the following September, but Mr. Roosevelt was back for his annual fall visit that November and presided at the founder's day observance. This year he stayed away from the dinner and dined in his mother's home at Hyde Park, N. Y., because at the time he was following the rule he imposed on himself during the campaign that he would not leave Washington more distant than 12 hours by rail.

The rule was broken for the Caribbean cruise.

Following the conversation with Hull Mr. Roosevelt left his train for the Little White House on Pine mountain, inspected his farm there and then made his way to the luncheon which was held in the dining hall of the foundation.

Mr. Roosevelt sat at the head table between Basil O'Connor, executive head of the National Foundation for Control for Infantile Paralysis, and Dr. Charles E. Irwin, chief surgeon of the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation.

14 Get Coveted Seats.

Fourteen of the youngest patients secured coveted seats at the wings of the head table and the other eighty-odd were at their regular seats in the hall.

After the luncheon Mr. Roosevelt met with the foundation trustees. He boarded his special train shortly before departure time at 5 o'clock.

He will reach the White House about 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and supervise preparations for a visit of Princess Juliana of Holland Tuesday.

40 MORE OF SECT LOCKED UP AFTER RETURN TO JOLIET

Forty more Jehovah's Witnesses yesterday joined 37 comrades arrested Saturday in Joliet's jail when members of the sect returned to town in force despite a warning to stay out. Those arrested Saturday are to appear in court today on charges of disorderly conduct. Those locked up yesterday are accused of peddling without a license and disturbing the peace.

The Witnesses who came back to Joliet began canvassing the residential district with portable phonographs which played records expounding the doctrine of the sect and attacking organized religions. Attempts then were made to sell literature. Those seized Saturday, after disregarding a warning to leave town, were offering literature in the business district.

Thirty-five of the 77 prisoners are women. Two children picked up in the Saturday roundup are held temporarily in an orphanage. Most of those arrested are Chicagoans and some are from Chicago Heights and Aurora.

INVESTIGATES A NOISE; WOUNDED.

Milton Sanicki, 22 years old, 1630 Beach avenue, returning home yesterday with John Klesen, 1824 North Ashland avenue, started to investigate loud voices coming from a parked automobile near North and Ashland avenues. Sanicki was shot in the arm by one of the occupants who then drove away. Sanicki was treated at the North Avenue hospital.

TOURIST STREAM FLOWING SOUTH AT FLOOD SPEED

Tide Rushes By Historic and Scenic Spots.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Chattanooga, Tenn., Dec. 15.—Fog veils the crests of Missionary ridge and of Lookout mountain this afternoon from the view of a stream of midwest tourists pouring thru here in U. S. 41 en route to Florida. Only a few tarry to look behind a cloud where, according to a grandfather's tale in humoring a child's credulity, he and Gen. Grant whipped the rebels here.

The motorists in this seasonal migration, including The Tribune road car, are impatient for warm sunshine. We give history and scenery only a passing glance. A couple of ahs for the Ohio river crossing at Owensboro, Ky., and the mountain climb at Monteagle, Tenn., and a couple of ohs for Andrew Jackson's Hermitage and the Parthenon replica of the Acropolis classic at Nashville, Tenn.

Hurry to Warmer Clime.

From the few words exchanged with fellow travelers at gas stations and at roadside lunch counters, it seems that the dominating interest of these motorists is not to see America but to get thru as quickly as possible that part of America that separates a home in a cold climate and a resort in a warm climate.

From Evansville, Ind., where we filed a dispatch yesterday, we detoured by way of Owensboro to Madisonville, Ky., on advice of the Chicago Motor club to avoid a bad detour marked by the Kentucky highway department. We learned that the direct route from Evansville to Madisonville, on U. S. 41, will be open after another week of construction.

New Concrete Inviting.

South from Madisonville on U. S. 41 and thereafter on U. S. 41W there is new concrete that invites speeds faster than are safe and a stretch of old pavement that looks as bad as it is. The new slab is bordered by soft clay shoulders. Mule drawn wagons, many loaded with tobacco, are a hazard to fast driving peculiar to this region. Highway crews park on the pavement, even near the crests of hills.

To eyes hungry for color there are traces of green in honeysuckle vines draping rail fences. But it's still cold in the land of "My Old Kentucky Home." Picturesque among these homes is a typical shack with sagging roof and faded sideboards of a tenant farmer.

Also, especially farther south, in Tennessee, there are expansive mansions set well back from the highway with well kept wooded fences free from barbs that would scratch horseflesh.

Has Choice of Routes.

At Nashville the Florida bound motorist has a choice of U. S. 41 via Chattanooga and Atlanta or U. S. 31 thru Birmingham and Montgomery, Ala. Both routes court the modern Yankee invader. We'll compare them from personal observation on our return trip in a few weeks.

U. S. 41 seems to be doing well this year, but this may be because winter travel everywhere is in unprecedented volume. H. T. Ammerman, district engineer of the Tennessee highway department, said this morning that he never saw anything like it. There are many first class cabin camps hereabouts built since last winter.

We're signing off, impatient like the rest of the tourists, to get going farther south.

Idea to Foil Bandits Works Too Well; He's in Hospital

Donald E. Jones, 47 years old, manager of the Story hotel, 2115 Sedgwick street, recently thought of a fine idea to foil robbers. He gave the cash drawer key to his wife when it was not in use and had her hide it. As a result, he was in Augustana hospital last night with a severe headache. Two robbers beat him over the head with guns because he couldn't open the drawer.

Seeks to Transmit Power Without Loss Thru Helium

New Haven, Conn., Dec. 15 [Special].—Prof. Cecil T. Lane, assistant professor of physics at Yale university is preparing to seek a means of transmitting electrical energy without loss thru the use of liquid helium which he can produce in one-twelfth the present time for $5 a pound, 20 per cent of the present cost. Prof. Lane built a helium producing machine from a crude drawing given to him in 1935 by Peter Kapitza, a scientist who returned to Russia for a visit and has not been heard from since.

WOMAN FIGHTS OFF THIEF.

Mrs. Frances Ryan, 6614 Kenwood avenue, told Woodlawn police yesterday that she fought off a man who tried to snatch her purse Saturday night as she was returning home from shopping. She said that her assailant slugged her, but that her turban cushioned the blow.

GOOD FELLOWS OF AIR TO PLAN EVENT TONIGHT

Aviation Ceremony Set for Dec. 23.

BY PHILIP MAXWELL.

Final plans for the Aviation Good Fellow ceremony Dec. 23 at Chicago airport will be made at a meeting at 6:30 o'clock tonight in the Airliners' room in the Congress hotel. The conference has been called by C. S. [Dusty] Miller, world war flyer, and business men connected with the aviation industry.

Among aviation organizations cooperating in the Good Fellow campaign, as announced by William Westlake, public relations man for the drive, are the Ninety-Niners, Women Pilots, Chicago Girls' Flying club, the Airline Pilots, the Illinois Air Pilots, the Airliners club, the Early Birds, the Aircraft Owners' and Pilots' association, the 108th Observation Squadron of the Illinois National Guard, employés of the Civil Aeronautics authority, the United States Weather bureau, Airway Control offices, Chicago Airport Traffic Control tower, and Aviation Post, No. 651 of the American Legion, and the National Aeronautics association.

Other Leaders Chosen.

Miller has announced other officers and committee members of Aviation Good Fellows as follows: Millicent Anderson, vice chairman; Arthur Nylander, treasurer; Jack Vilas, secretary; Marguerite Greene, custodian of toys; Maj. Ora W. Young and C. [Slim] Freitag, program chairmen; John A. Casey, custodian of baskets; Fowler Barker, master of ceremonies; Marge Dickman, coördinator; George Dunlap and Dan Ball, basket delivery chairmen, and Buell Patterson and Sidney Edwards, joint chairmen of the basket routing committee.

On the program at the airport ceremony will be King Calder and Ethel Wilson, of the play "Here Today," now being presented in the Selwyn theater, and Cynthia Cline, 14 years old, and Gerard Darrow, 8, of the radio program Quiz Kids.

Girl to Write Poem.

Barker has asked Cynthia to write a poem on Good Fellows which Gerard will recite, and both of them will be asked 10 questions concerning the aviation industry—just for fun.

Bishop Bernard J. Sheil, auxiliary bishop of Chicago and founder of the Catholic Youth Organization, appealed for Good Fellow support yesterday afternoon in a speech broadcast on W-G-N. He said no nation which is unwilling to spend its resources and energies in the relief of poverty and want can expect anything but the severest condemnation at the bar of public opinion and impartial history.

The largest single check received by the Good Fellow bureau was brought to that department at 1 South Dearborn street by an executive of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company. It was for $500. A. G. Hoadley is president of the company, J. P. Smith is vice president, J. C. Brennan is secretary, and John Steele is treasurer.

W-G-N CONCERT HOUR TO MAKE ITS BOW TONIGHT

Col. McCormick to Speak on Weekly Programs.

The première program of the new Chicagoland Concert hour, presenting familiar and light classical music, will be broadcast over W-G-N and the Mutual system from 10 to 10:45 o'clock tonight. The concert hour will take its place with several other W-G-N programs which offer radio listeners the best in music.

José Mojica.

Among these are the Pageant of Melody on Wednesdays, the Chicago Symphony orchestra programs on Thursdays, and the streamlined operettas presented Saturdays on the Chicago Theater of the Air.

The concert hour replaces the Monday evening opera programs which were an exclusive feature of W-G-N during the Chicago Opera company's season just ended.

Col. McCormick to Speak.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, will speak briefly on the Concert hour program. He spoke regularly last summer on the Sunday Symphonic hour. When he spoke on the last Symphonic hour, presented prior to the opening of the opera season, Col. McCormick expressed his intention of resuming his weekly talks, which he said he felt had established a more intimate relation between THE TRIBUNE and the community it serves.

Musical highlights of the first broadcast of the new program will include songs by Marion Claire of W-G-N and José Mojica, Mexican tenor, and a violin solo by Michael Wilkomirski, concert master of the W-G-N Symphony orchestra. Henry Weber, musical director of W-G-N, who has just concluded a season as general director of the Chicago Opera, will conduct the orchestra.

Miss Claire will sing Musette's waltz from "La Boheme," "O Holy Night," by Adams, and selections from Franz Lehar's "Merry Widow."

Mojica, who made his first W-G-N studio appearance in Saturday night's presentation of "Rio Rita," will sing two selections from that operetta—"Granada" and a duet with Miss Claire, "Tu Partida." Mojica has been a member of the Chicago Opera company since 1919 and a favorite of Mexican moviegoers since 1932. Wilkomirski will play Johann Svendsen's "Romance."

The orchestra will open the program with Johann Strauss' "Gypsy Baron" and also will present "Manuel de Falla's Dance Espagnole, No. 1."

William A. Bacher will direct the Chicagoland Concert hours. Musical commentary will be provided by Cecil Smith of The Tribune music and drama department. The concerts will be broadcast from W-G-N's studio before many guests. Listeners wanting tickets to subsequent programs should address written requests to W-G-N.

W-G-N WILL OPEN CHRISTMAS SONG SERIES THURSDAY

W-G-N, maintaining a custom of nine years, will broadcast carols and other Christmas music every evening starting next Thursday. The festive music will be aired over W-G-N from 5 to 5:25 p. m. and will continue until 6 p. m. over the loud speakers on Tribune Tower and the W-G-N studio building, giving homeward bound shoppers a full hour of the music.

Twenty-six speaker units in 18 horns are used for these carol broadcasts. Two are placed atop the W-G-N studios; the others are hung at several levels on the Tribune plant.

The broadcast portion of the programs also will be carried over the loud speaker system on State street, set up by the State Street council.

WILLIAM BOSEL, member executive board of Bowling Alley and Pin Setters' union, local 25B—Feb. 26, 1932, sentenced to six months in the Bridewell for petty larceny. July 24, 1933, fined $1 and sent to Bridewell for five months on charge of contributing to delinquency [original charge was rape].

Records of Scalise and Bioff.

Probably more widely publicized than any of the above are George Scalise and William Bioff, each of whom has served time for criminal activities.

Scalise became eastern representative of the Building Service Employés' International union in 1934. In 1937, with the aid of gangster connections, he took over the presidency of this union and inaugurated a reign of terror among the other officers, who were allowed no voice in the affairs of the union.

Regarding the treasury as his private property, he arbitrarily raised his salary from $12,000 to $20,000. He also took huge sums for expenses and these were never accounted for. When it was disclosed that he had once served a term in the federal penitentiary for pandering, his union career came into the limelight. Recently, in New York, he was convicted of stealing from the international and was sentenced to 10 to 20 years in prison.

Indictments Pending Here.

Still pending here are indictments, obtained by Courtney, charging Scalise with embezzling $118,000 from the 70,000 union members, most of them elevator operators, scrubwomen and janitors.

Bioff was tried in Chicago in 1922 on a charge of pandering and was sentenced to six months in the Bridewell. An appeal was taken and failed, but Bioff didn't go to jail. He stayed out and grew into a labor leader.

In 1936 he went to the west coast as representative of George E. Browne, president of the International Association of Theatrical Stage Employés, and became the boss of 35,000 members of the union.

State's Attorney Courtney learned of the sentence still unserved and started proceedings that forced Bioff's return. He was sent to the Bridewell in April and stayed there until Sept. 20. Released, he went back to the coast. Browne has defended him on the ground that his past record as a hoodlum doesn't count now. Bioff still has to face charges of evading income taxes of $86,000 in 1937 and 1938.

UNDER STATE

There's a Good Reason You're Constipated!

When there's something wrong with you, the first rule is: get at the cause. If you are constipated, don't endure it first and "cure" it afterward. Find out what's giving you the trouble.

Chances are it's simple if you eat the supe.-refined foods most people do: meat, white bread, potatoes. It's likely you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It's a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body. It leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement.

If this is your trouble, you should eat a natural "bulk" producing food—such a one as the crunchy, toasted, ready-to-eat cereal, Kellogg's All-Bran. Eat it often, drink plenty of water, and "Join the Regulars." All-Bran is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is chronic, it is wise to consult a physician.

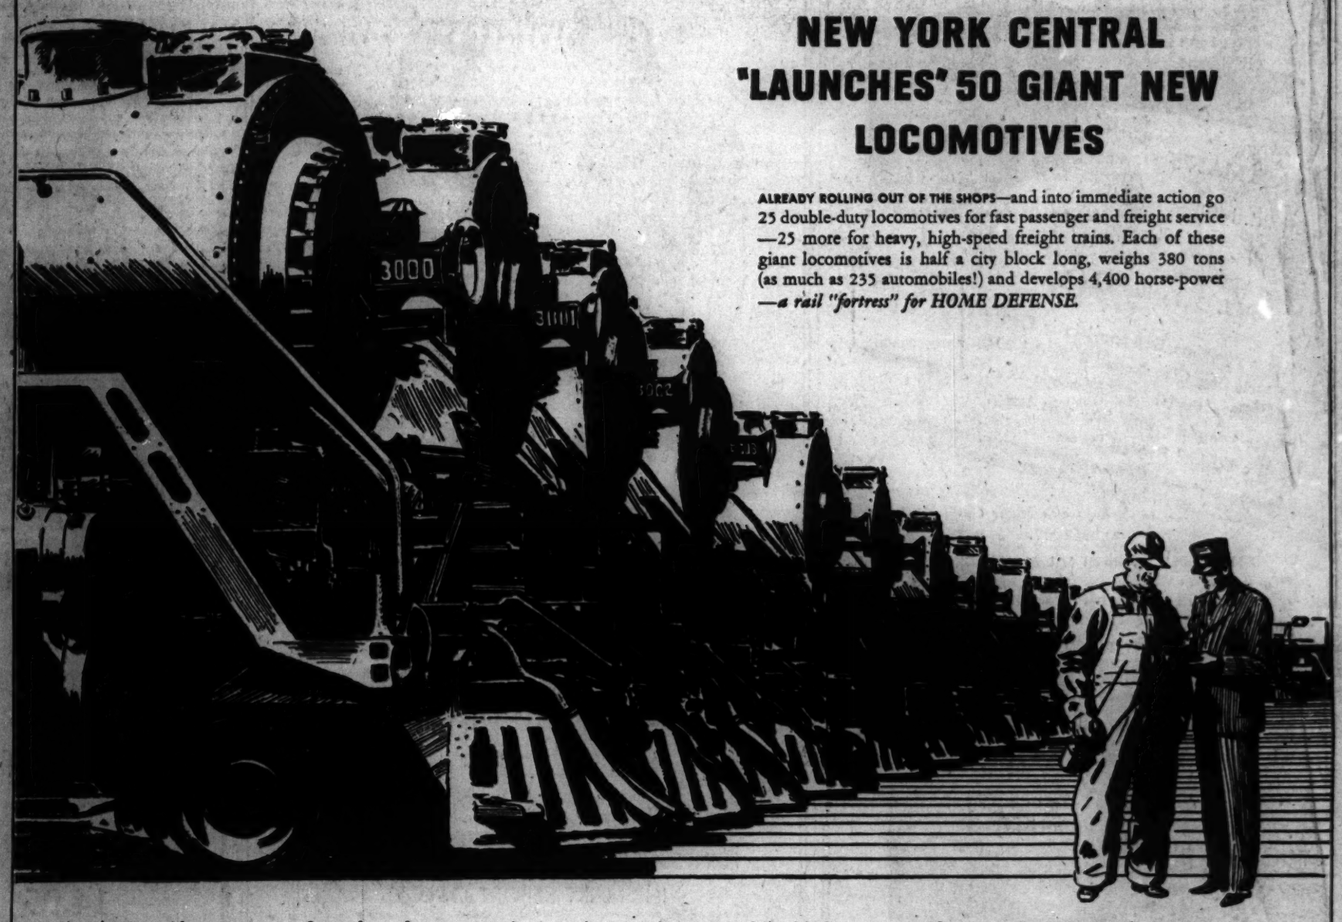
Another Fleet for Defense



NEW YORK CENTRAL "LAUNCHES" 50 GIANT NEW LOCOMOTIVES

ALREADY ROLLING OUT OF THE SHOPS—and into immediate action go 25 double-duty locomotives for fast passenger and freight service—25 more for heavy, high-speed freight trains. Each of these giant locomotives is half a city block long, weighs 380 tons (as much as 235 automobiles!) and develops 4,400 horse-power—a rail "fortress" for HOME DEFENSE.

THE rapid movement of goods and materials is one of the most vital elements of our national defense. New York Central has been preparing for this vastly increased tempo of transportation for many months.

It could have been accomplished with present equipment. But not without some curtailment of regular service to the public. New York Central chose to maintain full service, day in and day out—so that you would suffer no inconvenience or interruption even while this huge job of defense-transportation is carried on.

That is why New York Central is now proud to announce the "launching" of a great new defense fleet—50 giant locomotives, already starting in service.

No flag-waving, no champagne-christening accompanied this significant addition to our national strength. But we think you will share our feeling of pride in the power our country can develop when the need arises . . . At the same time we are glad to assure you that—as usual—you can depend on New York Central for your regular travel and shipping needs. These 50 new locomotives are only one step in this railroad's never-ending improvements for better service to you and to the nation's welfare.

7 MILLION SPENT IN FUTILE MOVES TO UNIFY TRANSIT

Fees and Costs Pile Up in 14 Year Period.

BY LAURENCE BURD.

Fourteen years ago yesterday the Chicago Railways company, operating the north and west side street car lines, went into receivership in the federal district court.

Ever since then city officials and representatives of all the street car and elevated lines have been making plans to reorganize the transportation system, form one unified company, and undertake a large scale modernization program.

Meanwhile, the south side surface lines, known legally as Chicago City railway, et al, and the elevated lines, have been forced into court hands.

Two Million Spent by Lines.

Over the 14 year period the lines have spent under court order a total of $2,819,438 in receivership costs and plans for reorganization, a survey of court records showed yesterday.

During the same period the city has spent an additional $4,648,136 from its traction fund to prepare unification plans and carry on litigation in the court reorganizations.

This brings to $7,467,574 the total cost for drawing up discarded or pending traction plans. This includes none of the cost of the subway.

The money thus spent would have purchased 467 modern street cars such as are used on Madison street, or 201 streamlined elevated-subway cars, or 745 new buses.

18,000 Pages in Record.

The cumulative court record of the surface and elevated lines' efforts to reorganize and merge is found in 20 printed volumes containing more than 18,000 pages.

Following is a tabulation of the payments by the individual companies for reorganization plans and receivership costs over the 14 year period and a separate tabulation of the expense in the last year:

	1940.	Total [incl's '40].
Chi Railways [14 yrs]	$ 81,480	$1,590,395
Chicago City Rys	55,987	603,451
Elevated Lines [8½ yrs]	56,754	625,592
	$194,221	$2,819,438

The 1940 expenses included payments of $34,333 to Walter A. Shaw, traction expert working on reorganization under federal court order, and to his staff. Shaw and his staff received $220,000 in the 1938-'39 period.

Shaw's reorganization work virtually was finished in 1940 and his allowance of $2,500 a month was discontinued at his own request last June 10. The work of internal reorganization among the lines gave way largely to negotiations with the city for a unified franchise.

Apart from payments to Shaw, allowances authorized by the federal government so far in 1940 have been:

CHICAGO RAILWAYS COMPANY.

Walter J. Cummings, receiver	$15,000
Guy A. Richardson, receiver	15,000
F. L. Hupp, secretary to receiver	5,000
J. M. Sheean, attorney for receiver	15,000
W. Kirkland, attorney for receiver	15,000
TOTAL	$65,000

CHICAGO RAILWAY ET AL.

Edward E. Brown, receiver	$15,000
Harvey B. Fleming, receiver	15,000
Harry P. Weber, attorney for receiver	15,000
TOTAL	$45,000

CHICAGO RAPID TRANSIT COMPANY. [Elevated lines.]

Col. A. A. Sprague, trustee	$24,000
Bell, Boyd and Marshal, attorneys for trustee	25,888
TOTAL	$49,888

The allowances made by the court by no means indicate the total cost of the receiverships. The federal court still has under advisement claims for a total of $262,856, requested by trustees of elevated lines' bonds.

Total Put in Millions.

Conservative estimates place the reorganization expenses still to be paid in the final cleanup in the millions of dollars.

A yearly tabulation of the money spent for transit planning from the city's traction fund since Jan. 1, 1927, follows:

1927	$ 79,105	1935	$ 119,674
1928	135,190	1936	201,780
1929	196,749	1937	279,723
1930	276,872	1938	440,010
1931	1,085,667	1939	336,790
1932	331,805	*1940	674,000
1933	165,376
1934	25,278	Total	$4,648,136

*December estimated.

These expenditures from the traction fund covered the spending of the city's traction bureau, the committee on local transportation, and its counsel and engineering staff.

WORK OF TWO YEARS ON CITY'S SUBWAY SYSTEM SUMMED UP

Tomorrow will be the second anniversary of the beginning of construction on the Chicago subway. Yesterday engineers summed up the progress of two years under four headings:

1. Eighty-three per cent of the original 7.7 miles of tubes is finished. All the boring that remains is a strip between Lake street and Wacker drive under State street.

2. Plans for an additional 2,000 feet of double tubes in the Congress street extension of the Dearborn street system, to cost 6 million dollars, are near completion and bids will be advertised soon.

3. Two of the 29 stations in the expanded system have been finished; 20 others are under construction or contract; contracts for five more have been approved by the city council; plans for the remaining two, both in the Congress street extension, are being prepared.

4. Work on all phases is proceeding on schedule and probably will be completed before the Jan. 1, 1942, deadline.

The city is now seeking a loan of 53 million dollars from the Reconstruction Finance corporation which would be used to buy equipment for the subway.

ELECTORAL VOTE WILL BE CAST IN 48 STATES TODAY

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15 (AP).—Every one knows President Roosevelt was reelected last November, but 531 persons will cast votes tomorrow to forestall any possible challenge—because the constitution says they must.

The Presidential electors in each state must mark their ballots for President and Vice President and send them by registered mail to Washington where congress will count them just 14 days before the Jan. 20 inaugural.

Unless there is some stunning development, the count will be: Franklin D. Roosevelt, 449; Wendell L. Willkie, 82.

The electors must get their votes to Washington by Christmas, otherwise special messengers will be sent to get them.

Nearly 50 Million Vote.

Just in case you don't already know it, it was for this group of 531 that nearly 50,000,000 citizens voted in marking their Presidential ballots 40 days ago.

The 531 are known officially as "Presidential electors" and unofficially as the "electoral college." President Roosevelt will be the first to graduate from the "college" three times.

How that term "college" originated no one seems to know.

Illinois Electors Vote Today.

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 15 [Special].—The 29 Illinois members of the electoral college will meet here at 10 a. m. tomorrow in Gov. John Stelle's office. After a chairman and secretary are chosen each of the 29 electors will mark their ballots.

Following are the electors:

Chicago and Vicinity.
George M. Maypole	Mary McEnerney
D. C. Dobbins	John A. Logan
John Budinger	James A. Ronan
John M. Lee	Thomas J. Sheehan
Edward J. Kolar	Edward J. Denemark
Eugene P. Meany	Joseph T. Baran
Dorsey R. Crowe	Louis Rixmann
Frank J. Wise
Downstate.
Thomas B. Dunn	Jacob Aschenbrenner
Charles S. Coulson	Glenn Ratcliff
C. N. Hollerich	C. S. Schneider
Claude M. Saum	John W. Yantis
John W. Woodall	George Luker
C. A. Van Preter	Jake Runyan
W. C. Kane	C. D. Joplin

Altho the constitution permits electors to vote for whomsoever they please, it is certain they will plump for Roosevelt and Wallace who carried the state by 102,000.

A GIRL REACHES END OF A LONG WALK NOWHERE

Grace Has Her First Meal in Three Days.

BY MARCIA WINN.

The girl was cold and faint and hungry. It was Saturday night, and she was pretty, with bright blue eyes, flushed cheeks, and a wealth of brown hair.

Somewhere was her young son, whom a foster mother adopted when her first husband deserted her. Somewhere, too, was her second husband, who deserted her a month ago. Seventeen miles away, in Bensenville, were her mother and stepfather. Somewhere on Chicago's north side was her grandmother, old and ill.

Last Meal 3 Days Ago.

That was about all Grace Crowther remembered last night when she regained consciousness in county hospital. She remembered her last meal, three days before, and washing dishes in a restaurant for a bowl of soup, and walking, walking, walking.

She doesn't remember writing it, but a note was found beside her yesterday morning as she lay unconscious, her imitation fur coat drawn tautly around her, in the rear seat of an automobile parked in front of 1016 Keystone avenue.

"Just Let Me Stay."

The note said:

"My name is Grace. I am 24 and I am out of a job. I have no place to go. I am a decent girl and don't want to be out on the street. I can't keep on walk much longer.

"I haven't eaten, as I haven't any money. I can't get a job, as I haven't any phone money or car fare. Whoever finds this, please don't call any police, but let me stay. It's cold out. I'll work hard to repay you. I am very tired and feel sick. Please give me a chance."

Not until 6 p. m. yesterday did she regain consciousness. Then she ate. "My home?" she repeated, as the nurse at county hospital requested an address. "I have no home."

BRITISH LABOR LEADER TELLS OF WAR SPEEDUP

Sir Walter Citrine, British labor leader, told a meeting of the Chicago Federation of Labor yesterday that British workers had been forced to give up their former work week of from 44 to 48 hours and work from 58 to 70 hours to keep Britain in the war. He spoke in Musicians' hall, 175 West Washington street.

Sir Walter Citrine.

"Hitler is worrying about the day that will bring a full speedup in British and American production," he said. "That is why he is making desperate efforts to crush our spirit by indiscriminate bombing before the production peak is reached."

Sir Walter predicted that Hitler will begin to suffer reverses when British and American industry reaches its productive peak. He said that when that happens the millions of trade unionists in Germany who have been repressed but whose ideals never have been extinguished will aid in Hitler's overthrow.

SALVATION ARMY CAPTAIN SEIZED ON RAPE CHARGE

John Troutt, 33 years old, a Salvation Army captain, was locked up at the Shakespeare avenue police station yesterday on the complaint of Miss Ruth O'Daniel, 20, a former Salvation Army worker, that he raped her Saturday in his home and organization quarters at 1634 North Kedzie avenue.

Miss O'Daniel, a divorcée who lives at 2750 Monroe street, told police she had been a Salvation Army worker for seven years. She said she quit the organization three weeks ago after Troutt tried to kiss her. She said Troutt called her to the post quarters Saturday to return her uniform.

Troutt, who is married, denied the charge. He was arrested by Detectives Walter O'Connell and Rudolph Mueller after he finished services at the organization post.

Commissioner Ernest Pugmire, head of the Salvation Army in the middle west, said: "I have known Capt. Troutt for a long time and he always has been honest, upright, and straightforward. He never has been in trouble before. Occasionally the Army encounters trouble of this kind, but it usually can be traced to spite work."

How to get $25 in cash to tide yourself over and repay in two monthly installments of $12.98 each

WOULD $25 or $50 extra be a big help to you this month? You can get a small cash loan to tide yourself over at very reasonable cost. The cash will be ready for you the day after you apply. Then you may repay your loan in convenient monthly installments.

Did you know that you can borrow $25 for two months for only 96c? That's all you pay in charges for a $25 loan repaid in two monthly installments of $12.98 each. $20 to $50 loaned only for 12 months or less

WE GUARANTEE the total amount figured by using this table to be the full amount you will pay, when payments are made on schedule. You will pay less if you pay your loan ahead of time since you pay charges only for the actual time you have the money. Payments include charges at Household's rate of 2½% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $100, and 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100. This rate is less than the maximum prescribed by the Small Loan Law.

CHICAGO-DETROIT-B. I. — B. E. HENDERSON, PRESIDENT

Simple to borrow

You are invited to apply for any amount shown in the table. You need no stocks or bonds, no endorsers or guarantors, to borrow at Household Finance—just the ability to make regular monthly payments. (Loans are made on furniture, car or note.) You merely give us a few facts about yourself in a brief, private interview. No questions regarding your credit will be asked of friends or relatives.

Choose your own payments

You may, of course, apply for more than $25 to $50 if you wish. The table shows payment plans for loans up to $300. You may choose the payment plan which best fits your own purse. You find the amount you wish to borrow in the first column of the table. Then read across picking out the monthly payment most convenient for you to make.

Installments shown in the table repay everything including Household's charges at the rate of 2½% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $100, and 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100, which is less than the maximum prescribed by the Small Loan Law. Every Household customer gets the benefit of this rate—whether new customer or former borrower.

Fair treatment

If you should get sick or lose your job while paying on a loan, Household will show you every consideration. Last year we foreclosed on only one chattel mortgage for each 20,000 loans. This action was taken only as protection against fraud.

If a loan can help you meet your expenses this month, phone or visit us today.

Popular hosts and hostesses find—

PEOPLE APPRECIATE A CHANCE TO MAKE THEIR BEVERAGE WINE

• In the evening and afternoon when people are together . . . have you noticed lately how many prefer a more leisurely kind of hospitality?

Well-known hosts and hostesses in every section of the country report it. These days, they find, growing numbers of folks prefer wine.

By nature a moderate beverage, wine is a product of sun and soil and man's patient labor. You like to sip your wine slowly. Why don't you be hospitable this more considerate way next time?

TIPS ON SERVING WINE
TABLE WINES go best with meals. They are made "dry" (not sweet) to complement food. Try tart, red Burgundy or Claret; delicate, golden Sauterne or Chablis (chill) ...in servings half water glass size.
SWEET WINES go best with refreshments and desserts. They are made rich with the natural sweetness of the grape. Try red Port or golden Muscatel. Serve in a small glass.
APPETIZERS before dinner taste best with a wine like Sherry. Sherry is amber, nut-like in flavor—usually served in a cocktail-size glass.

From the Want Ad-Viser's Note Book

A Chicago housewife decided that she would prefer to have a grand piano than the spinet model she owned. Accordingly, she began to follow the Musical Instruments column in the Tribune want ad section for an opportunity to trade. Very soon she discovered the want ad of Mrs. R. B. of S. Michigan avenue, who wanted to make such a trade. If you want to buy, sell, rent or trade, it will pay you to follow the Tribune want ad section.

Because want ad users get better results, they place more want advertising in the Tribune than they place in all other Chicago newspapers combined.

Call or send for your records promptly if you wish to be sure about getting the particular symphonies you most desire. Thousands of music lovers have called for their records during the past two weeks. Additional thousands have ordered their symphonies by mail. The huge demand for these symphonic masterpieces has exceeded even the highest estimates.

Symphonic masterpieces by Mozart, Schubert, Beethoven, Wagner, Debussy, Haydn, and other immortal composers, consisting of as many as four double-faced, 12-inch records, 8 sides, can be obtained by the public at a cost of only $1.69.

World's Greatest Orchestras and Conductors Made the Recordings

Some of the world's greatest orchestras and conductors made the recordings. You would have expected to pay from $6.50 to $8.50 instead of $1.69 for the same symphonic compositions recorded by the same orchestras and conductors with the names of those orchestras and conductors on the records prior to the general price cut in records.

The incredibly small price at which these records are being made available to the public is explained by the fact that some of the world's greatest orchestras, conductors and record manufacturers were induced to take part in a national movement to advance the appreciation of good music by making it possible for families of moderate means to become familiar with good music through the medium of the phonograph record. To make practical the widest possible distribution of records at very low cost, the orchestras and conductors gave up their royalties, accepting only a single recording fee, and the manufacturers agreed to reduce all charges and profits to what they considered their lowest practical minimums. The Chicago Society secured the records through the Publishers Service Company, which originated and managed the Music Appreciation offers throughout the United States and which makes a profit on the records. The Society, however, is a non-profit organization, and after payment for the records, together with all other costs of conducting the distribution, turns over any remaining proceeds to the four Chicago musical organizations.

These Symphonies Obtainable Only at the Society's 2 Distribution Headquarters

These records can be obtained ONLY at the 2 Distribution Headquarters maintained by the Chicago Society for Music Education at 65 East Lake Street and 14 North Franklin.

THE SLIPPING DICTATOR.

Within a little more than six weeks Mussolini has suffered two damaging blows on land and one on the sea, damaging not only to his prestige, a most important thing to him, but to his actual military force. He sent his troops into Greece Oct. 28 on what was expected to be an easy and little opposed occupation of the country. Those troops and their reënforcements not only have been thrown out of Greece but have lost at least a fifth of Mussolini's Albanian territory, with important towns and ports.

In Africa Marshal Graziani had conducted a well planned invasion of Egypt. His ability was respected by the British. He had led his troops to perform some prodigies of desert marching, and he was establishing his bases, laying down his lines of communication, and bringing up his supplies so effectively that the threat against Egypt and Suez was not taken lightly in London.

This expedition has been shattered within a few days. The British attacked unexpectedly, using the methods which the Germans taught them in Flanders. The success has been complete. The Italians, suddenly struck by mechanized units, planes and, in addition, by the guns of the fleet, were demoralized and apparently have been thrown back into Libya.

The effect of these reverses upon the Italian people is admitted in Rome by statements which reveal a Fascist uneasiness. The Italian fleet has been severely damaged in its own ports and does not challenge. The Italian air force nowhere makes the appearance which its strength on paper would have promised. Its ineffectiveness thus far has been something of a mystery. Reports on Italy's economic condition indicate that the blockade is having its effect there already. There is a food shortage. There is mention of new restrictions and of higher prices. A winter of want seems to be the prospect for the country.

There have been stories of discontent for some time. Such stories are naturally sought by people who want to believe them but there is some confirmation when the censor permits the sending of such news as the revival of the Fascist strong armed gangs which enforce discipline in communities by beating up suspected malcontents and feeding them castor oil.

The controled newspapers in their comments range from explaining that the war is not a pleasure jaunt, that reverses are to be expected, and that the Italian people have the fortitude to take them, from this tone to the denunciation of any muttering against the Fascist order, of defeatism and moral cowardice. These are new notes in the rhapsody of Mussolini's new Roman empire.

Hitler could save Italy if it became necessary but at a price Mussolini could not afford to pay. A few German divisions in Albania might stop the Greeks. A few more in Italy itself might restore the spirit of victory, but not the Italian pride. Nor would the Italians be much better satisfied to have German troops quartered among them than are the Danes or the Dutch. Hitler, as the world would see by the turn of events, would be taking Italy into protective custody about as he took Rumania. Mussolini would become a satellite and not a sun.

Unless Hitler does intervene, Italy may not be able to repair the damages. The spirit of the people isn't in the war and a bad winter with no mitigating military successes will not inspire them. It is probably futurist speculation to inquire what Hitler would do if Italy asked for a negotiated peace; what the Italians themselves, reverting to the king as the head of their government, would do to Mussolini if peace were proposed, and whether the British would want to come to terms with Mussolini or would prefer to keep him as a Nazi liability.

Something may soon come of the African and Albanian campaigns which will jar the position of a European dictator who was professedly powerful and arrogant a few months ago.

A CHANCE TO HELP CHICAGO.

It would be a great pity if the interest in good government generated in the recent electoral campaign in Chicago should be wholly lost. Precinct and ward organizations were improvised and many of them performed splendidly on election day. The effort to prevent fraudulent voting and a dishonest count produced what is generally agreed to have been the cleanest election in the recent history of the city.

Chicago stands in great need of a continuation of this interest in politics. In the last decade the growth of the city in population was negligible. The city retains the strategic advantages which promoted its rapid growth but is held back by a number of influences, among the most important of which is the quality of its local government. For many decades Chicago prospered in spite of its government and the citizens easily fell into the habit of believing that incompetence and dishonesty in public office were no great handicap to the community. Now Chicagoans know or ought to know that this easygoing tolerance of an admitted evil was costly in many ways.

The politicians made their alliances with racketeers and protected them. The interests of both were promoted at the expense of the constructive forces in the community, which were blackjacked. Employers and employés alike were the victims of the shakedown. Taxes mounted rapidly. The rapid increase in the costs of doing business in the city proved to be serious detriments to the expansion of existing industries and the establishment of new ones.

Some of these evils have been remedied, others remain and will remain as long as the citizens of the community tolerate them. The cure lies at the polls. If the voters of Chicago can be awakened to the high cost of bad government the battle will be won and Chicago will resume its growth. A great opportunity presents itself to those who worked so valiantly in the last election. If they will now turn their attention to local problems and attack them with anything like the energy displayed in October and November their efforts will be richly rewarded.

THE FAILURES IN DEFENSE.

Americans thoroly believe in their productive ability. They know how vast their resources are. They know the extent of the industrial plant and the genius in the enterprise which manages it. The productive ability and the resources constitute power, military power when it is needed. The illusion is that the transition from peace time uses to military uses is easy. It isn't.

Great private enterprises are great because they are private enterprises. Their growth was planned by men who knew how. Altho they are now far from unrestricted by government they did not come off the governmental drawing board or go thru the whole scheme of governmental burocracy.

The industrialists themselves do not expect or promise miracles over night. What happens when their plans are in operation may seem miraculous, but it hasn't been pulled out of hats. That is the political method. In America's rearmament program the politicos were first out in front with the promises. They played upon the American belief in the power and genius of American productivity, to which nothing seems impossible. Then they began to put things on order. The thing on order was supposed to be a thing accomplished. Finally they threw the responsibility upon the industrialists, who are trying to bring order out of chaos.

William S. Knudsen of the defense commission told the National Association of Manufacturers that the week-end factory shutdowns have slowed down the preparations for production. Aircraft output is 30 per cent behind schedule. Gun and machine gun production is still in the tooling stage. Four a day is the present rate for light tanks. Next midsummer three plants will be turning out medium tanks. Two hundred and ten camps and cantonments are under contract, but shutdowns and strikes are delaying construction and holding at home the men who were to have been in the army. The armament which is on order could stop Hitler and two other fellows. What is on hand couldn't stop any one.

These are some of the facts regarding defense progress. All the contributing conditions were laid down by the New Deal. America is the greatest military potential in the world. But that power cannot be evoked with war whoops. We should have learned this lesson in 1917-18 when in spite of the best efforts of some of our best men of affairs the failures in the production of war instruments were extraordinary to the very end.

STATUS OF BRITISH SHIPPING.

The increasing activity of German submarines has led some persons to assume that such serious reduction in the British merchant fleet has taken place that even the flow of food supplies is in danger. A survey of the present status of British shipping facilities will establish whether this view is well founded.

At the beginning of the present year Great Britain had a merchant fleet of 16,321,000 tons, which, according to the United States maritime commission, was nearly one-third of the world total. Additions have been made to the fleet during the year in various ways, and there have been reductions due to German submarines, warplanes, and surface raiders. There are fairly accurate figures on all of these developments.

In April, when Norway was invaded, that country, with the fourth largest merchant fleet in the world, placed all of her vessels at the disposal of the British. That action added 3,947,000 tons, or nearly 25 per cent, to British shipping facilities. Later, following the German invasion, the Netherlands, with the seventh greatest cargo fleet, and Belgium contributed 2,773,000 tons to the British pool. In November, Greece, the ninth greatest maritime nation, made a commercial fleet of 1,000,500 tons subject to the command of her ally. These four additions increased Great Britain's cargo carrying capacity by over 8 million tons or 50 per cent.

And there were other sources for a mounting total of shipping. A considerable part of France's tonnage, which exceeded 2 million tons at the beginning of this year, fell into British hands after the capitulation. A few German and Italian vessels were unable to return to home ports or reach neutral harbors in time. Some Danish ships volunteered for British duty. Over 100 American vessels have already been turned over to the British and 14 more with an aggregate of 135,000 tons are about to be sold to them.

Finally, Great Britain's tonnage of seagoing vessels has been increased by the ships constructed during the year. According to Arthur Greenwood, member of the inner war cabinet, the year's program of mercantile shipbuilding amounts to 1,350,000 tons. That brings the total cargo facilities to something over 26 million tons, or about 10 million tons more than at the beginning of the year.

Meanwhile there have been losses. On Nov. 26 Ronald Cross, British minister of shipping, in a speech in which he said that his country was looking to the United States to keep the British isle fed and supplied with munitions, gave the statistics on the results of the war at sea. He said the losses of cargo carrying vessels averaged 20,000 tons a week during the inactive period of the war prior to June, and 60,000 tons a week since then. That would indicate that the total losses for the year would approximate 2 million tons. Or in other words, the net gain in shipping for the year is about 8 million tons.

MURMURINGS FOR MONDAY.

A couple of eminent war mongers recently said, within a day or two of one another, "It is later than you think," to express their gloomy forebodings about what may happen unless we pitch in. A reader asks us about the origin of this saying, and we hasten to explain. It is a famous inscription for sundials, and it was probably started by some melancholy monk as a memento mori, back in the middle ages.

* * *

Next Saturday will be the winter solstice, after which the days will grow longer. Many ancient peoples celebrated this date as the Birthday of the Sun. Folklorists point out a relationship between these pagan rites and the Christmas festival. St. Augustine exhorted the early Christians not to observe this day on account of the sun, but in honor of Him who made the sun.

* * *

Jan. 6 was the date of the Nativity among the Christians of the near east until late in the 4th century. Then the western [European] churches, which had not recognized the eastern festival, fixed the date as Dec. 25, and the eastern Christians gradually adopted the custom. The change in Antioch, an important Christian center in Asia Minor, is a date of record: A. D. 375.

* * *

Did you know that those letters, A. D., should usually precede the numeral? Try saying such a date in full, and you will see why: "In the year of our Lord 375." . . . A colleague taxed us with this violation of usage a few days ago, and in the ensuing argument we discovered that he himself had made the same slip of the pen twice in an article for the Sunday edition.

ODE TO THE WINTER SOLSTICE.

I hear the trumpets of the morning blowing;
Long crimson banners stream across the east.
For what king's advent is this pageant showing?
Who comes when autumn's glories all have ceased?
He who is monarch of winter and spring,
Seed time and harvest and birds on the wing,
Insect and grass blade and every live thing.
His power has waned, but now we shall see it increased.
Back from the south, his flaming mantle flowing,
He rides the snow clouds, but their frostly sting
Will shortly be replaced by heat that burns.
Away with doubting! Leave your small concerns!
Stand forth and shout, "Our Lord the Sun returns!"

Village Vignette: Home for Christmas.

Maybe it's because of the season, but at any rate we've been thinking of the little old home town depot. Remember it? The depot with its stove, the "clickety click, click, click" of the telegraph, the agent with eyeshade and sleeve protectors, the solemn clock staring down from the wall, and the announcement board.

The depot had its own peculiar odors and special sounds—snowclad feet stomping in from the outside and echoing with unusual loudness in the waiting room; the whistle of the wind; muffled voices and laughter from bobsleds or cutters slipping along Main street to the musical accompaniment of sleigh bells; the occasional grunt and sigh of the old stove as the coals slipped down; and then the long intervals when there was no sound at all scarcely save the ticking of the clock.

But just before train time the depot underwent a profound change! The air became charged with excitement. Laughter and cheery voices blended in a chorus of expectancy. The tenseness increased. "Here she comes," some one would shout! And sure enough, "she" was coming—good old No. 10, snorting in like a gallant steed and bringing the folks, the kids, or maybe "some one special," home for Christmas! Newcomer.

The Game of Ironic Anagrams.

So the irony sometimes concealed in an anagram appeals to Maxellus [Dec. 4]! There is his "vote" and "veto." There are also "united" and "untied"; "scared" and "sacred," "man's laughter" and "manslaughter." Let's also remember that "courts sometimes dispense justice and sometimes dispense with it," and that it has been said, "first, men get on, then they get honor, and then they get honest." M. F. F.

It seems that Cuba might be a good country to join when one tires of it all in his native land. Not because of the climate; O, no! But because Cuba has a law which forbids theaters to open later than the time they advertise.

Didn't the newspapers report Pertinax, the French political journalist, as saying that Daladier was "the son of a beggar?" Well, what he really said was "son of a becker," meaning baker.

NEW LIGHT ON HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE.

APPARENTLY medical science is on the trail of the substance which, in many instances, is responsible for high blood pressure. A recent announcement by Irvine Page of Indianapolis outlines the successful treatment of a dozen or so patients with this malady. An extract which he and his co-workers prepared from kidney cells was utilized. Within the next few months we will know far more about a disorder which has cut short many useful lives or reduced efficiency to a low ebb.

At some time or other, most of us exhibit temporarily a level that is higher than normal. But when the reading is elevated routinely, the walls of the arteries may be injured in consequence.

Ten or 20 points rarely will jeopardize health. But once the tendency has been established, there is some likelihood that it will mount steadily until a sizable "pound" must be withstood. Then it is that the lining of the blood vessels is likely to degenerate and the damage may include the heart and the capillaries within the renal organs.

There is reason to believe—since anger can call forth the production of adrenalin from the glands that lie adjacent to the kidneys—that perhaps worry is a factor in the generation of the toxin that raises the arterial pressure At any rate we all encounter friends who belong to the apprehensive type and whose life span is shortened appreciably by this ailment. If we can banish our fears we shall probably save ourselves a good deal of wear and tear because the circulation responds to complacency and peace of mind.

Diet is also a factor and the one general prescription is MODERATION. It is thought that meats do no harm if taken in modest amounts. Condiments [pepper, spices, etc.] seem to constitute a source of irritation for already exhausted structures. Then, too, we can cut the salt ration in half and get along much better. Liquids may be taken, freely but not to the point where they will be retained within the tissues. A total of two or three quarts daily will be sufficient.

Until Page's preparation or some other neutralizing material is ready, physicians will be obliged to treat symptoms as they arise and much help will come from the use of sedatives. Potassium bromide is the drug of choice. If its administration is watched with care, it may be continued for weeks or months. For a quick effect—one that does not last—nitrites [nitroglycerin or amyl nitrite] may be tried. Excellent results have followed the employment of bismuth subnitrate, as this compound is changed to the nitrite form in the blood. Ten grains, two or three times daily—as the physician may direct—ofttimes brings relief.

But we should not rely on medical so much as on hygienic measures. One's daily program must be reorganized with less punishment for the vital parts. More sleep, more rest, smaller meals, and some outdoor exercise may bring a dangerous rating down to one that may be lived with for years to come.

While it is not well to ignore this condition, nevertheless it need not be dwelt upon as tho a sword of Damocles were hanging over the victim. Fussing about it will only make it worse, while the cultivation of an even temperament will improve the outlook greatly.

CHILBLAIN TIME.

J. R. writes: As soon as the weather turns cold the skin on my feet becomes livid and cracked. The heels particularly are affected. Can you suggest something to help?

REPLY.

Probably chilblains, which is a question of cold sensitivity. Bathe the parts daily in a weak solution of alcohol [20 per cent] and follow with a bland ointment such as cocoa butter. You may be interested in our leaflet on frostbite and chilblains.

STOMACH SPASM.

E. M. writes: What is a pylorspasm?

REPLY.

A condition in which the outlet of the stomach contracts firmly. In some instances the episodes are fairly frequent, interfering with nutrition. The origin is probably nervous in character. Sedatives and belladonna are often helpful.

VITAMIN OVERDOSE.

J. W. writes: What is the effect of an overdosage of vitamin tablets?

REPLY.

Probably little danger, except from D, which may stimulate the formation of stones within some hollow organ.

STEPS.

Chicago, Dec. 13.—Would some of the boys who are doing all the shouting for giving aid to Britain short of war tell us just who is going to reconquer Europe after Britain is saved by this aid? Is there any one so foolish as to believe that she is going to do it? It seems popular today to do a lot of talking about the war without thinking things thru. By aiding Britain we are either going to try to do the next thing also, reconquer Europe for Britain, or we should be unwilling to do either. The first step, aid to Britain, presupposes the second, reconquering Europe; and the second step will bring a third, an American expeditionary force on foreign soil which is just what the President so strenuously promised not to do in Philadelphia, Oct. 23, 1940, when at the end of his campaign for reelection he said: "We will not participate in foreign wars and will not send our army, naval, or air forces to fight in foreign lands outside of the Americas, except in case of attack."

Now's the time to make up our minds just what we favor for these United States and we'd better put it in writing to our congressmen. Here's one vote and one letter for western hemispheric defense, nothing short of that, but nothing more either! R. L. S.

THE CORN PROGRAM.

Knox, Ind., Dec. 10.—Since the department of agriculture has decided that the corn crop for the year 1940 and hereafter must be sealed for a period of three years if the farmer desires to receive a loan upon his crop I have been expecting to read of considerable complaint coming from the farmers themselves. Very few farms are sufficiently equipped with cribs to hold crops for three years. The owner must bear the loss of shrinkage, rottage, and accidental loss when he comes to sell his corn at the direction of the department. Losses from those sources can be quite considerable over a period of three years. I doubt very much if many farmers will participate in the sealing program, and it would not be surprising if a considerable number of farmers dropped out of the AAA program entirely next year as a result of the three year sealing order.

COL. INGERSOLL'S WAR RECORD.

Chicago, Dec. 11.—In a western city, one Sunday night long years ago, I went to church, Methodist, of which I am a dues paying member. The preacher was Bishop McIntyre and he tore into Ingersoll, Voltaire, Tom Paine, Bradlaugh, and others of that school of thought. His dirtiest crack at Ingersoll was the one which appears in the Voice of the People today; that the colonel's war record was bad, and that he had surrendered under fire, etc. Soon after floods of protests and denials poured in on the bishop and friends of Ingersoll had printed pamphlets carrying affidavits of many of his regiment that the charge was not true.

THOMAS K. DAVEY.

THANK YOU, MA'AM.

Freeport, Ill., Dec. 13.—I salute you, a great and fearless American newspaper. Things don't seem quite so hopeless with you fighting to keep our American way of life from becoming hopelessly mangled.

MRS. W. A. SEELY.

A VIRGINIAN FOR WAR.

Norwood, Va., Dec. 10.—Of all the difficult and important tasks confronting the minds of Americans, none seems greater than that of realizing the absolute and unyielding truth in the words, "victory or slavery."

We are trying to win this war for freedom without really trying to win it. In the leisurely way of a peace bound mind, we arm the British in their fight for us all. Yet, by one simple act we could make ourselves fully realize a terrible crisis is upon us all and also send our greatest possible moral support to the allies who need all possible morale thruout this dark and desperate hour; and, in addition, end the peace of mind of all saboteurs and spies, who are the hidden and terrible enemy of our strength. And that one simple act is to declare war. An honest confession is good for the soul; an open declaration of war is good for the fighting spirit of free men everywhere.

Why hesitate to enter this surprisingly bloodless war, when our peace is itself becoming a bloody thing, as factories are dynamited and workers killed by saboteurs who know they won't be shot at sunrise till war is declared?

UNION CARDS REQUIRED.

New Lenox, Ill., Nov. 11.—A man who does odd jobs for me has been unemployed for some time. The other day he made application for a job on one of the projects at Wilmington. He is a good carpenter and made application as such but was quickly and positively told that he would have to join the union and that the initiation fee was $150. It was impossible for him to dig up the amount so he changed his application to a labor job where the fee would be $15. He said he could get that. He is still unemployed while a number of men who already belonged to the union are at work. I thought this was a free country.

UNDOMINATED.

WHAT IS WAR?

Glen Ridge, N. J., Dec. 10.—It is not war to suppress piracy on the high seas.

It would not be war for the United States navy to police the Atlantic ocean to suppress piracy.

It would not be war for the United States navy to convoy shipping across the Atlantic ocean as a protection against notorious acts of piracy now shocking the conscience of those who still believe in maintaining some decent form of civilization in this mad world.

JAMES EMERY BROOKS.

PLEDGED AGAINST WAR.

Chicago, Dec. 10.—I am also a member of the America First committee, but I think that my fellow member, Dorothea Waltzmann, has an inferiority complex. She seems to think that the last election was a mandate for the policy of the William Allen White committee. Practically the entire eligible electorate voted for two candidates who solemnly pledged to keep this country out of war. The policy of the White committee is to give Britain all aid she needs to obtain victory, which policy they insist must be followed even tho it lead us into war. The America First committee believes first in observing all safeguards essential to staying out of the war, and then secondly, giving Britain whatever aid is not inconsistent with those safeguards. This policy was the representation of the two candidates in their dual pledge of aid to Britain and keeping the U. S. A. out of war. This was the mandate of the last election, and this is the true sentiment of a large majority of the citizens of this country.

SALE OF ESTATE ASSETS.

Chicago, Dec. 13.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My mother passed on 17 months ago.

1. I would like to know if the administrator can sell the house that belonged to my mother. Myself and an older brother did not sign for anything.
2. The house was sold about May 1, 1940.
3. How long did we have a right to live in the house after the house was sold? When the house was sold the administrator got all the cash and we did not get our share as yet.
4. Can he claim the car which my mother told me to sell?
5. How long does it take to settle where there is a will? M. G.

1. If the estate is solvent the administrator as such does not have anything to do with the real estate. If the estate is insolvent then the real estate can be sold to pay debts.
2. It is not likely that the buyer would have been satisfied unless the facts were such as to justify the sale. See 1.
3. We cannot advise to advantage without knowing the facts. We suggest that you look up the records in the office of the clerk of the Probate court.
4. Authority from your mother to sell would be cut off by her death.
5. Under present Illinois law an estate can be closed shortly after the expiration of nine months. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

POLICEMAN SHOT BY TAXI BANDIT FIGHTS FOR LIFE

Gunman Slain in Battle; Pal Captured.

Policeman George Haennicke of the Marquette station was reported to be in a critical condition in St. Anthony's hospital yesterday from a gunshot wound he incurred earlier in the day in a battle with one of two young bandits. The bandit was killed and his companion was captured.

Anthony Kavaleski.

The slain gunman was identified as Charles Tamkus, 20 years old, 4405 South Artesian avenue. His companion, who was slightly wounded, identified himself as Anthony S. Kavaleski, 21, of 2101 South Millard avenue. The latter said that he is a brother of Stanley Kaval, one of the "Friday Night" bandits, who have been implicated in 250 tavern robberies in the last two years. The gang was arrested recently.

Police Volunteer Blood.

More than a score of police, associates of Haennicke, went to the hospital during the day when a request for blood donors was made. Physicians said blood transfusions may be necessary today, when they plan to operate. Haennicke is 34 years old and lives at 1851 South Fairfield avenue. He has been a policeman seven years.

Haennicke, with Policeman Frank Janousek, had been stationed by Capt. William Burke in a squad car at 23d street and Washtenaw avenue, and other policemen had been stationed elsewhere in the district to watch for taxicab bandits. A number of cab drivers have been robbed in the district on Saturday nights recently.

Haennicke and Janousek were joined by Policeman Arthur Madzinski when they saw a taxicab drive past with two men in it.

Gunman Starts Shooting.

They gave chase and stopped the cab a short distance away. When the police got out of their car Tamkus opened fire, wounding Haennicke, and started to run. The three policemen returned the fire, and Tamkus was killed outright. Kavaleski was captured as he attempted to flee.

Three cab drivers identified Tamkus at the county morgue as the bandit who had robbed them during the last few weeks.

Kavaleski was viewed by crime victims at the detective bureau showup, but was not identified. He said he had not been arrested before and that he knew Tamkus when they attended Harrison High school several years ago. He met Tamkus in a tavern Saturday night and went with him when the latter told him they could make some easy money, he told police.

CAPITAL THRONGS STAND IN TRIBUTE TO LORD LOTHIAN

Dignitaries Attend Rites; Military Funeral Today.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15 (AP).—Officials of the United States and diplomats stationed in Washington today paid tribute to the marquess of Lothian, British ambassador to the United States, in funeral services at the Washington cathedral.

The brief service in the rites of the Anglican church included no eulogy or mention of the achievements of the 58 year old nobleman who died in the early hours of Thursday, soon after he had addressed an appeal to this nation to give more aid to Great Britain in her war against Germany and Italy.

A caisson escorted by a troop of cavalry bore the body from the rambling, red brick British embassy to the Episcopal cathedral in a procession which moved slowly along Massachusetts avenue, lined on both sides by watchers.

Cremation Is Private.

After the church service, a private cremation service was held. Tomorrow, with full military honors, the ashes will be placed temporarily in a vault at Arlington cemetery, the national burial ground for American military heroes. Whether the ashes will be taken to his native England for eventual burial has not been announced.

The flower banked cathedral was filled with dignitaries of many lands when the Rt. Rev. James E. Freeman, bishop of Washington, met the procession at the door. The casket, draped in a British flag, bore wreaths from King George of England, the British and Canadian governments and President Roosevelt.

Every nation with diplomatic envoys in Washington, except Germany and Italy, was represented at the funeral. President Roosevelt, who was in Warm Springs, Ga., en route home from his Caribbean cruise, was represented by Stephen Early, White House secretary. Near him were Mrs. Roosevelt, Secretary of State Cordell Hull and Mrs. Hull, and Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes and Mrs. Hughes.

Other Dignitaries Present.

Also attending were the other Supreme court justices, cabinet members and their wives, members of congress, ranking members of the army and navy, high administrative officials; Joseph E. Kennedy, ambassador to Great Britain, and William C. Bullitt, former ambassador to France.

By royal command, Neville Butler, counsellor of the British embassy, represented King George at the services, and placed the wreaths from the king and from his government.

The 30 minute service consisted of Scripture readings, including the familiar 23d psalm, "The Lord is my Shepherd," music, and the committal service.

Assisting Bishop Freeman were three other members of the cathedral clergy, Dean Noble C. Powell, Dr. T. O. Wedell, canon chancellor, and the Rev. William M. Bradner, canon preceptor.

Dr. J. P. Schneberger's pride and joy, his sixth generation "chickpheasants"—or, if you want the whole name, "Silver-ringneck pheasant-chicken cross, silver penciled variety" — are stealing the show at the second annual Chicago International Poultry exposition at the International amphitheater, at 42d and Halsted streets.

Louella Zewbohmer holding "chick pheasant."

Dr. Schneberger, an Ossian, Ia., dentist who crosses chickens and pheasants as a hobby, is exhibiting his unusual birds to thousands of midwest poultry breeders. "There's no difference between the eggs of the 'chickpheasants' and those of a chicken," he says. "But my birds are much more beautiful. They add class to the farmyard."

He also is showing a fourth generation hybrid, which he calls the "Golden-Lady Amherst pheasant-buff cochin bantam cross," and a cross between a blue peacock and a pearl guinea hen.

More than 1,500 birds from 40 states, Cuba, and Canada are entered in the show, which closes tomorrow night.

PEOPLE WITH THESE SYMPTOMS often lack iron. For years Gude's PEPTO-MANGAN has been a favorite—because it is not like bitter, upsetting iron tonics, but is delightful to take, and won't upset delicate stomachs. Helps increase appetite, thus helps make blood rich and red. At druggists. Liquid or tablets.

MEMPHIS SHERIFF DECLARES WAR ON MISSISSIPPI

The 'Enemy' Says: Come Right Ahead!

Memphis, Tenn., Dec. 15 (AP).—Lack of official communiques clouded developments today in the border feud between two sheriffs over gambling, altho some folks are riled to the point where they say they're ready to take up arms and go marching into the fray.

Arrow locates Desoto county, Miss., object threatened invasion.

Sheriff Guy Joyner of Shelby county [Memphis], Tenn., has threatened to invade Desoto county [Hernando], Miss., where Sheriff E. S. Baxter has promised to arrest him and his deputies if he does.

How It All Started.

The controversy started several weeks ago when Joyner said he had chased all the gamblers out of Memphis and Shelby county and that they had settled down in establishments a few yards from the Tennessee line in Sheriff Baxter's territory. The state line is within 10 miles of Memphis.

The dispute flared afresh last week when Joyner proclaimed on a huge roadside billboard at the edge of the border that "down the road in Mississippi are gambling dens and dives," and said the authorities "won't do anything about it." Baxter retorted that there was no gambling in his county and suggested that the Tennessee sheriff "clean his own house" before "meddling" in Mississippi.

Threatens a Blitzkrieg.

On Friday night Joyner threatened to march into Mississippi with an armed force equipped with axes and bloodhounds and "break down those doors and make kindling wood of all gambling equipment." Attorney General Will Gerber promised to back Joyner by prosecuting any one arrested in such a raid.

Baxter replied in a letter to Joyner that if the Tennesseean's deputies raided anywhere in Mississippi they would be treated "like any other ordinary law violators." He added that Mississippians by the hundreds have volunteered to repel any "invasion."

Joyner contends he has the right to raid establishments over the recognized line because it has never been decided in court exactly where the dividing line runs, and "it may be, after all, that those dens are in Tennessee."

Towel racks used to be very homely, tho utilitarian, we'll admit. That's true no longer, however. They are just as convenient for family use as ever, but they are made with style. We saw some, the other day, that were made with a wooden frame, black enameled, and that had three bars of chromium, set in step fashion, for your towels. The rack also comes in a white finish. It is simple, good looking, practical, and it's reasonably priced. EDITH WEIGLE.

Marjorie Rambeau Gives Great Performance as Tugboat Annie

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Marjorie Rambeau and Lionel Barrymore should get together—in front of a mirror—and have a talk. Because they've got SO much in common! I'm telling you—watching Tugboat Annie is just like beholding Mr. Barrymore in skirts. Which observation is meant as the sincerest of compliments to both these splendid veterans of stage and screen.

You have rarely witnessed anything finer than Miss Rambeau's characterization of Capt. Brennan, weather beaten, big hearted, shrewd headed, and ONLY woman tugboat captain on the waterfront, devoted to the company she works for and hating with a hearty, well earned hate her rival, Capt. Bullwinkle. . . . She and Alan Hale follow the late Marie Dressler and Wallace Beery in the roles which Norman Reilly Raine's stories have made famous. Mr. Hale is quite all right, but Miss Rambeau—ah, THERE is acting. . . .

As the story opens Tugboat Annie is about to be beached for the reason that customers have shown themselves incredulous regarding a woman's ability on such a job. . . . The rest of the action shows YOU how Tugboat Annie shows THEM—and the demonstration's well worth your time and attention.

Miss Rambeau holds your attention and sympathy chained from first to last appearance. She's sincere, she's funny, and she's tragic, and she's tremendously facile and able. You should see her go up and down a ladder, man her ship, boss her men, discipline the spoiled daughter of a customer who has fallen in love with Annie's current lad-she's-putting-thru-college, give way to despair—and come up tootin' the while Capt. Bullwinkle beats a hasty retreat. O, it's a grand piece of work. [And done EXACTLY as Mr. Barrymore would have accomplished it.]

May producers recognize its quality and bring Miss Rambeau to us often in the future.

The supporting cast is tops and the brisk little story was accorded the very best of direction.

I recommend the film to you with no qualifications.

See you tomorrow.

It is rather easy, I think, for people who are with their children all the time to make too much of their little faults, to make an issue of things which do not deserve it.

All our children have what we consider real faults, and consequently they do things at times which seem to us worthy of serious rebuke. When this time comes bring all your resources of influence to bear upon your child, but do not waste them on the trivial misdemeanors of fallible childhood.

There are two bad effects of doing this latter thing. One is that you tend in that way to lose your sense of values and to make your child lose his, besides making him feel himself constantly in your displeasure. If you reprove him as seriously for slamming doors as you do for telling an untruth, he will be likely to feel that the two things are equally important. All offenses are then on the same level to him.

Another serious reason for not making an issue where none is involved is that, like the overly enthusiastic story teller, you are using up all your ammunition on the skirmishes and have nothing left for the big climax. Or, as they say in rhetoric, "everything is so striking that nothing strikes."

If you make much of every small occasion, what can you do to be impressive on great ones, when a real issue is involved? You waste your power where it isn't needed. The thing to do is to deal in a matter of fact, utilitarian way with the little every day breaks, and conserve your resources of influence for an occasion where they will be needed.

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

Diary of a Movie Correspondent.

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 15.—Sunday—In the evening to the Nunnally Johnsons' for some steak cooked in salt by Ed McNamara. The recipe sounds simple: Plaster a half inch of moist butcher's salt on a 2½-inch steak, a side at a time, and grill it 20 minutes or so each side. Break off salt, douse steak with melted butter, slice and lay lovingly on pieces of toast. But I fear Mac has the copyright on the wondrous flavor and texture.

Monday—To Eaton's in the valley for lunch with Judy Canova. She's positively demure offscreen, and a hardheaded business woman. She doesn't know it yet, but she is going to be the main performer at a party when Republic dedicates its new sound stage to Mabel Normand. Republic used to be the Mack Sennett lot, where Mabel worked, and Judy's going into a Normand picture, "Sis Hopkins."

Tuesday—To Paramount to talk with Buddy De Sylva, who came here to produce two pictures and was mightily pleased to be handed Bob Hope and Bing Crosby. He hopes their current film, "Road to Zanzibar," will be a great hit "because it will make it easier for my two. The movies are a three day business and following up a hit is easy. The customers will be in and out before they know it." Buddy, of course, hopes "Caught In the Draft" and "Birth of the Blues" will be hits, too, but points out there's a lot of luck in show business—here or on Broadway. "In 'Panama Hattie' I had a character for Shirley Temple," he illustrates. "Then I found I could not get her. Somebody suggested Joan Carroll, and that was luck."

Wednesday—A long, unexciting day of telephoning and writing, and in the evening to a neighborhood theater to catch up on "Tin Pan Alley" and "Little Nellie Kelly." I thought Charles Winninger's performance of a bad tempered Irishman in "Kelly" was excellent, and remembered his telling that his New York debut 31 years ago was as a German comedian. He was Rudolph Schnitzel in "The Yankee Girl."

Thursday—An interesting letter from a Florida reader, Rosemary F. Ahern: "There seems to be a common legend around Hollywood that the public is fickle and that actors lose popularity because of that fickleness. Personally, I have discovered that there are a great many performers for whom I had the highest regard who simply vanished and were never heard of again—why, I don't know." Methinks the lady is right. Compared to the movie masterminds, who sway and shiver in each tiny breeze, the public is as steadfast as Fort Knox, Ky.

Friday—To Lakeside for a foursome with Frederick Hazlitt Brennan, Alfred Werker—who recently finished Disney's first live-action picture—and Richard Carroll. By an astounding but hilarious progression from trap to trap I win my $2. Afterward in the lounge is James Kevin McGuinness, about to depart for his old home town, New York, for the holidays, and he confesses he doesn't like it any more when he goes back there.

Saturday—To the Columbia studio, and then to the typewriter, and then to Edgar Selwyn's to dinner.

Ballet Theater Demonstrates Versatility in Final Program

To close its six week engagement with the Chicago Opera company, the Ballet theater presented at the Civic Opera house yesterday five contrasting works which served to display the versatility, the creative ability, the virtuosity of its members.

Cool, classical "Swan Lake," in a version which is said to be a re-creation by Anton Dolin of the original Petipa choreography, was followed by one of modern ballet's outstanding works—Eugene Loring's "Billy the Kid," a deft, humorous, often extravagantly beautiful chronicle of frontier life of a half century ago.

The "Bluebird" dance from "Aurora's Wedding," another Dolin-Petipa restoration, led to Antony Tudor's "Judgment of Paris," a satirical ballet whose humor is built on a foundation of dire tragedy and whose music [by Kurt Weill] mirrors the pathetic lasciviousness of the story.

The program closed with Anton Dolin's "Quintet," a disordered and somewhat astonishing work of which it can at least be said that it offers opportunity for many fantastic costumes and settings.

Properly to describe the ballet's individuals would require a page of newsprint. The following paragraphs are an attempt to salute a few.

Anton Dolin's exquisitely conceived and perfectly realized dancing was seen to advantage in "Swan Lake" and especially in the "Bluebird." Eugene Loring mimed Billy the Kid with deftness and virtuosity.

With a minimum of fuss Antony Tudor produced a maximum of effect in his enactment of the Customer in "Judgment of Paris." The same words describe Hugh Laing's work in the same piece.

Slight, superhumanly graceful Karen Conrad helped bring the old "Bluebird" dance triumphantly to life. She and Mr. Dolin piled one virtuoso trick on another until old-timers began to swear that they were back in the Marinsky theater and that the year was 1906.

Maria Karnilloff, Katherine Sergava, and Lucia Chase, playing the three not very hopeful ladies in "Judgment of Paris," understated so subtly and executed all the traditional come hither maneuvers so deftly that the piece never threatened to come down of its own weight. As for Nana Gollner, even "Quintet" was almost glorified in spots by her beauty and skill.

Conductor Alexander Smallens was alert thruout the performance for every musical value. He created a wonderfully glittering quality as each new sequence of the "Bluebird" began.

Chicago bade the Ballet theater good-by with many a volley of rapid fire applause.—E. B.

Opera Closes Season That's a Turning Point

BY EDWARD BARRY.

With the 36th of its subscription performances of opera Saturday night and the 11th of its all-ballet presentations yesterday afternoon, the Chicago Opera company this week-end brought its 1940 season to a close. There will, it is true, be two post-season performances ["Hansel and Gretel" Dec. 29 and "Manon" Dec. 31], but it is possible now to evaluate the season as a whole and to record the advances which the company has made.

The year 1940 will be remembered as a turning point in local operatic history. The resident company took a new name, elected new officers, engaged a new chorus and dance group, freshened up its répertoire, brought in a bewildering number of new artists, presented familiar artists in new rôles, and put a heavier emphasis on the general quality of its performances than has been the habit here since 1932.

Under the leadership of Henry Weber, general director, the Chicago Opera company early in the year began work on the task of assembling a young, fresh voiced chorus. Rehearsals were carried right thru the summer, and when the season arrived the chorus had reached a stage where it could, and did, add radiance to nearly every performance.

The new dance group—New York's renowned Ballet Theater — was engaged to take part in all operas requiring dancing and to present an all-ballet series of its own under the opera company's auspices. Its season here has been a brilliant artistic success. The Ballet Theater has helped to revivify many an outworn scene in opera and has contributed importantly to local dance history by the number of new works and restagings of old works it has presented.

In the six short weeks of the 1940 season the opera company has revived no fewer than four major works—"Falstaff," "Don Giovanni," "Salome," and "The Jewels of the Madonna." In addition, it has brought back into the répertoire two important operas which have been absent for a short time—"Der Rosenkavalier" and "The Love of Three Kings." Also, it has restudied and restaged many of the standard, year in and year out items.

"Bewildering" is just the adjective to apply to the number of new artists brought into the company this year. The European war had driven to America hundreds of highly qualified conductors and singers, and during the last six weeks Chicago has heard a generous selection of these. It has been quite impossible properly to digest so rich an addition to the personnel.

To name only a few outstanding newcomers, there have been the conductors Paul Breisach and Maurice Abravanel, and the singers Margit Bokor, Maria Hussa, Zinka Milanov, Rose Pauly, Jarmila Novotna, Suzanne Sten, Risé Stevens, and Mack Harrell. Not all of these, of course, were here as a result of the war. Some of them are native Americans.

Among the familiar artists whom the company has presented in unfamiliar parts are Grace Moore [Fiora in "The Love of Three Kings"] and Lily Pons [Gilda in "Rigoletto"].

The general quality of the performances has been immeasurably better. There have been more thought, more rehearsals, and more painstaking attention to stage and technical details. As to this last, the efficient and imaginative work of Chief Regisseur William Wymetal, Regisseur Martin Magner, and Technical Director Monte Fassnacht has been apparent in the greatly increased visual vitality and splendor of the 1940 performances.

If you want to be happy for an hour, get drunk.

If you want to be happy for a day, kill a pig, roast it and eat it.

Hot Numbers.

When José Echániz, distinguished Cuban pianist-conductor, arrived in Chicago last week to start rehearsing for his appearance as guest conductor with the Illinois Symphony orchestra this evening at the Great Northern theater, he brought with him two trunkloads of native Cuban percussion instruments. With the aid of this equipment, which includes güiros [gourds], claves [sticks] and maracas [glorified rattles], the dynamic Echániz has been teaching the Illinois Symphony to play Amadeo Roldán's Tres Pequenos Poemas in native style. Echániz' program will also include another hot number, Rhumba, by Harl McDonald, composer-manager of the Philadelphia orchestra. McDonald, who is in Chicago to attend the national convention of symphony orchestra managers, expects to be in the audience as does Darius Milhaud, who will hear Echáni: conduct and Paul Des Marais play the first Chicago performance of his piano concerto. Roldán, who made the original arrangements for this appearance of his Cuban compatriot died recently.

Manuel Baroumis Shows Progress in His Song Recital

Manuel Baroumis, Chicago Greek-American tenor, appeared in a song recital at the Civic theater last evening. Constantine Callinicos, pianist, was accompanist and assisting artist.

Mr. Baroumis has made progress toward vocal security and fluency in the months since his last downtown appearances. The quality of his voice is pleasant, but there are still many times when a faulty method of tone production handicaps him too seriously. He also fails to pay enough attention to the fundamentals of good phrasing. Mr. Callinicos played, in business like manner, two of his own compositions, both of which were rhythmic Greek dances treated in a style of post-Lisztian brilliance.

Clubs to Offer Outdoor Fun for Holidays

BY JUDITH CASS.

IF CHICAGOANS follow the holiday programs planned for them by their town and country clubs, there will be pink cheeks this year in place of the jaded complexions which all too strenuous Christmas doings have left in their wake in years gone by.

This season the pendulum is definitely swinging away from the formal balls and dinner parties and toward the healthy, hearty outdoor sort of entertainment. Each year, it seems, more clubs are adding hockey and curling rinks, and figure skaters are venturing forth with more complicated and daring steps.

Crisp, clear afternoons and evenings will find skaters on the rinks during the holidays at the Dunham Woods, the Indian Hill, the Exmoor, the Saddle and Cycle, and the Winter clubs. The Dunham Woods has gone a touch old-fashioned and added cutter rides and bobsledding, and the Exmoor's varied calendar includes skiing, tobogganing, and curling.

Trap and skeet shooting are regular events each Saturday and Sunday at the Knollwood, the Onwentsia, and the Exmoor. The Onwentsia, which has facilities also for winter riding, will open its shooting range on week days, too, if four persons request it.

Numerous Indoor Events Announced.

For those with indoor tastes, the Tavern club will hold open house on Christmas eve, and guests will gather around the wassail bowl between 5 and 7 o'clock. The very young at the club will have a puppet show, bird show, circus band, and buffet luncheon to fill their party next Sunday.

The Racquet club's only club party during the holidays will be the fathers and sons' luncheon on the 30th. Christmas night will find the Fortnightly club aglow, with lighted balloons and a popular orchestra playing for a junior dance, which will be preceded by numerous dinner parties.

The beloved custom of gathering for Christmas carols will be repeated on Sunday at the Indian Hill club. The preceding night is being reserved for the high school set, which will have a dance and midnight supper.

The Exmoor Arranges New Year's Eve Party.

The Exmoor, one of the few country clubs to give a New Year's eve party, has engaged two orchestras for the evening. Open house the following day will be a family event. The Teen Hop is set for the 27th and the children's party, complete with Christmas movies and a Santa Claus, for the 23d. Miss Barbara Pierce, Miss Betty Kerber, Ellsworth Mills, and James Hart already have plans to entertain at dinner before the Teen Hop.

At the Saddle and Cycle, a well known orchestra will be holding sway from the bandstand on New Year's eve. The Merrill Shepards are having a group of friends at their home for cocktails preceding the Saddle and Cycle dance.

The first Petit Lundi of the season will be held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon in the Goodman Studio theater.

Dolls Come Closer to Being Real Babies This Christmas

BY REA SEEGER.

'Round Christmas time the doll showings are peak attractions for the small shoppers who stand entranced before all the new ideas in any well stocked doll department. Baby dolls this year have a texture like skin and the entire dolly is dunkable without any fatalities.

There's one baby doll all dressed in long white christening robe; there's another in a long pale pink silk coat. There are some new arrivals with real eyelashes and the most playful eyes imaginable. Dollies that say plainly, if a bit plaintively, mama and papa when they're subjected to squeezing come with fetching little bonnets and frilled white dresses, and they're as pink and cuddlesome as a real baby. Knitted coats, mittens and hoods copied from real baby clothes are part of the wardrobe equipment.

You will find a twin ensemble of smoothly stuffed dolls, little brother and sister duets, that would make any child whoop with joy. And they can be separated if you wish.

"Little Lulu," that well known little terror, is here again, this time with the same inimitable hair-do and a white outfit boasting an apron with her name. Small dolls no longer have that empty facial expression, they are as lifelike as the big dolls.

Youngsters must have gone realistic to have the supplies so different. New dolls have magnetized hands, so that they will carry mittens, jewelry, umbrellas just like a real grownup. Taffeta dresses in gay colors, dolls dressed in bright felt, dolls with fur trimmed hoods and tiny fur jackets, dolls with extremely sophisticated long dresses like "big sister," dolls in gingham, dolls dressed to represent the national costume of every country on earth, little boy dolls, and dolls for family life in smart doll houses, butlers, nurses, maids, and chauffeurs fill the doll sections.

The Odor of Violets

By Baynard Kendrick

[Copyright: 1940: By Baynard Kendrick.]

SYNOPSIS.

Leaving their house guest, Chell Scott, Norma Tredwill goes to the city to break up the romance between her libertine ex-husband, Paul Gerente, and her stepdaughter, Barbara. She sees Barbara leaving Paul's apartment and discovers Paul murdered. Duncan Maclain, a blind detective, receives a visitor who claims to be Gerente, with orders in code from the naval intelligence. On a hunch Maclain goes to Paul's apartment and finds Cameron, who lives below Paul in the apartment with the dead man. Cameron confesses to the murder, claiming a girl, Hilda Lestrade, witnessed it. Norma longs to ask the advice of Bunny Carter, head of the aircraft works where her stepson, Gilbert, is a designing engineer, but she does not dare for fear of implicating Barbara in the murder. Barbara disappears. In Gilbert's workroom some one pushes a wardrobe on Norma. Col. Gray, head of the New York defense plans, commissions Maclain and his partner, Spud, to investigate spy activities in connection with the murder and the bombing night Gilbert Tredwill has designed. Maclain goes to the Tredwill home with his two seeing-eye dogs, ostensibly to solve Barbara's disappearance. He discovers the plans for the bombing night have been traced and learns from Norma that she thought Bella was hiding behind the wardrobe. Later Bella is found dead with her head cut off. Norma confesses everything she knows to Maclain. Maclain, who came upon the odor of violets in Gerente's apartment, finds it again about Bella.

INSTALMENT XXV.

JIGSAW PUZZLE.

Gil began to undress, removing his clothes with short vicious tugs expressive of disapproval to the "nth" degree. In shirt and shorts he stood at the foot of his wife's bed and said finally:

"I'm broke, Helena. Thad holds the purse strings, not me. He's generous—but generous in his own way. Our honeymoon trip——"

"Cost a lot," Helena supplied. "I know. And the things you've bought for me." She held out one hand. A diamond and platinum wristwatch caught multicolored rays from the bedlamp. She put her white arm back under the covers. "How much did you spend for Christmas presents, Gil?"

"My dear!" His dark face became more pleasant with a smile of protest. "I'm not that broke. Why my salary from International is——"

"Twelve thousand a year. That won't buy $3,000 wristwatches for me." Helena shielded her face from the glare of the lamp, and added. "Nor Christmas necklaces. It was sweet of you—but I canceled the order before we left New York today."

Gil's face darkened again. "Who told you about that necklace?" He slid into pajamas and tightened the sash about his waist. "That was to be a surprise." He waited expectantly.

"It was an accident, Gil. The jeweler 'phoned the hotel about delayed delivery and I got the call. Look, darling," she said almost entreatingly, "you've lost money in the market, I know. Where did you get the cash to buy such a necklace? It was going to cost you plenty."

Gil switched off the lights and got into bed. "I borrowed it, Helena."

"From whom?"

"My boss—if you must know."

"Bunny Carter?"

"That's right," said Gil.

"When?"

"Last night in New York."

Helena was quiet as the footsteps of the patroling state policeman passed softly in the hall. After a time, she asked:

"Where did you see Bunny?"

"At the banquet I went to—at the Biltmore."

Helena raised herself on one elbow and relaxed again. "I must have misunderstood Norma. I thought she played bridge with Bunny and Bea last night until after two."

"Bunny was in New York," said Gil.

. . . . . .

Duncan Maclain leaned back farther into the softness of an armchair, clasped the heavy silk folds of his dressing gown closer about him, and for a time gave himself up abstractedly to counting the footsteps of the trooper in the hall.

An air of somber expectancy had settled about The Crags, muting the life of the Tredwill home. The captain felt himself caught in its toils, and the feeling was most unpleasant. It rasped on his superkeen senses, tearing at his nerves as some bad violinist might draw discords from strings with an over resined bow.

Maclain's very existence was composed of ordered patterns. Before he could move with assurance articles of furniture must be mentally pictured, allocated to their proper places. The conduct of humans affected him in similar fashion. Men and women were governed by certain immutable laws and customs. It was Duncan Maclain's habit to study those about him, and judge, as a trained psychologist might judge, what they would do under a given set of circumstances.

Bella's murder had struck with terrific impact, shattering those immutable laws which served as guideposts. The murder formed part of a pattern; that, he knew. But the picture was broken—obscured by tiny lines, as broken glass becomes opaque. Somehow he must strip away the cloudy inessentials and make the picture clear.

The stripping process might prove dangerous. Broken glass held nothing but peril for a careless hand.

Bella's murder was most annoying, and clever, too. Before it happened the picture had been clear. Bella fitted neatly into it, smiling cryptically out of its tragic frame.

Maclain had come to Hartford searching for some one nosey—discreetly nosey. Bella had filled the bill. Cleverness, even ruthless astuteness, were easily hidden under the rôle of an ignorant housemaid with a predilection for raiding the storeroom to loot it of sweets and jam.

The state police were certain that no human had left The Crags after Norma Tredwill was attacked the night before. Again Bella fitted into the frame.

The odor of violets fitted, too.

Maclain restlessly left his chair, went to his Gladstone bag and took out a box containing a jigsaw puzzle. It was easier to concentrate when his fingers had something to do. Seated at a writing table he dumped the pieces of the puzzle out before him and began to sort them swiftly.

The puzzle was more than half together when he paused to touch the chime button on his Swiss repeater watch. The timepiece tinkled half-past two.

He placed the watch on the table before him, touched the desk lamp and found it was on. Switching it off, he sat for a moment listening to Schnucke's light breathing, then went to work again in the darkness. Piece by piece the puzzle grew, built by the uncanny prescience of fingers which could see.

The odor of violets was a means of identification—labeling its wearer as a spy. It identified documents, too—showed they had been traced, or earmarked them as originating from agents of the same unfriendly power.

"Those Braille instructions were deciphered before they were brought to me," he said under his breath as he patted a fragment of the puzzle into position. "Probably by another blind man—a member of the ring. That checks all the way thru—but I have no proof and no one will believe what I say."

He turned his thoughts to the missing girl. For several long minutes he sat holding another piece of the puzzle in his hand.

Why had Barbara Tredwill run away?

It violated the rules of normal conduct in the opinion of Duncan Maclain. Norma had thought somebody was in the other room of Gerente's apartment. If that was true, the same person must have been there when Babs found Paul. The murderer? Perhaps, but there was no immediate means of proving it true.

The captain laid the piece he was holding down on the table and stirred it about in small concentric circles.

Why hadn't Babs raised an alarm?

Why hadn't she telephoned her father, or Stacy, or Norma, or any one, before she ran away?

There were other questions—too many of them. The captain relinquished the piece he was moving about and leaned back wearily.

If the murderer was discovered by Babs, why had Babs been allowed to leave unmolested?

The captain straightened up suddenly, found the piece and fitted it into the puzzle.

Murdered in Gerente's apartment, Babs would have bathed the Crags in a searchlight of publicity. Publicity was bad for a place which had become an outlet of information which might affect the outcome of a war. Gerente was killed because he became too interested in The Crags. Then if Barbara had seen Gerente's killer, Barbara was allowed to leave the 12th street apartment for one reason only—because a neater plan had been conceived to get her out of somebody's way—a plan which would allow a few days leeway for work to be completed.

To get her out of whose way?

The captain stood up and ran supple fingers thru his hair. He felt that his reasoning was sound, but it presupposed one thing he had failed to consider. If Barbara had encountered any one in Paul's apartment—it must have been some one she knew.

Christmas wouldn't be Christmas without nuts, mixed nuts in the shell, home roasted peanuts, spiced or glazed nuts for holiday teas and open houses. The prepared nuts are easy to fix and good to eat. Too good, in fact, for they often tantalize us into eating too many of them!

Nuts may be salted with or without oil or butter. Almonds and peanuts are favorites, and both must be blanched before roasting and salting (I refer to raw peanuts, of course). To blanch them, pour boiling water over the nuts, let stand five minutes, drain, and cover with cold water. Skins will slip off easily. Dry the nuts on soft paper before roasting.

TO ROAST NUTS.

Any kind of nuts may be roasted. Almonds, peanuts, and hazel nuts should be blanched first. Spread the nuts in a shallow pan, sprinkle well with salt, and drip oil or melted butter over them, if desired. Place in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, and toast until the nuts are delicately browned, about 15 minutes as a rule. Stir them once or twice during browning. Drain oiled or buttered nuts on soft paper. Blanched almonds, blanched peanuts, and shelled pecans are a good combination for roasting together.

CARAMEL GLAZED NUTS.

Combine two cups sugar and one-fourth cup butter in a skillet. Stir over low heat until sugar melts and browns lightly. When bubbling sugar begins to take on a slightly lumpy, crumbly, golden appearance, stir in unblanched almonds or other nuts, coat them quickly, and separate them while hot on waxed paper. Allow to cool before tasting or you'll burn your tongue!

GLACE NUTS.

Place two cups sugar, one cup hot water, and one-eighth teaspoon cream of tartar in a sauce pan and stir until sugar is dissolved. Boil sirup to brittle stage, when it begins to turn slightly yellow. Remove sauce pan from heat and place in a pan of hot water to keep sirup from hardening. Dip nuts quickly, a few at a time, using a wire spoon, and remove to oiled paper.

Spiced Nuts.

¼ cup sugar
2 teaspoons cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon cloves
1 slightly beaten egg white

Mix sugar and spices in a small bowl. Add nut meats to egg white, a few at a time, in order to coat them well. Drop into spice mixture, cover well, and then bake on a buttered baking sheet at 300 degrees for half an hour, or until browned.

Your Stars ★ Today ★

—By WYNN—

Monday, Dec. 16.

Constructive action, testing of plans and policies can be made progressive and profitable today. There is, however, an IF. We must keep constantly in mind the background of emotional and other conflicts now in the minds of all men. Be fair.

Your Year Ahead.

Your year ahead, if born on this date, suggests strictly personal efforts to persistent, concentrated nature in behalf of ambitions; knuckle down, try, and gain will come; but watch health. Danger: Jan. 28-Feb. 10; June 15-23.

Tomorrow.

Stay in the usual groove in money; avoid pessimism.

Do you want an individual interpretation for your own personal date? Send 10c for your 1941 horoscope (or 5c for balance of 1940 horoscope—15c for both) to WYNN, Tribune Astrologer, 286 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y. Write plainly your name, date of birth, and address.

Unpopular? First Cure Is Forgetting It

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"I am 27 years old and not popular. I am sure that I am like the average girl, act naturally, try to be pleasant at all times.

"You write of girls who have had suitors but who aren't taken on for life. What about the unpopular girl who hasn't had any men friends? Once you wrote, Miss Blake, that men are attracted by women in whom other men appear to be interested, too, or whom other men have found desirable.

"Unpopular girls like myself haven't access to any influence such as that. At a party or dance there are girls who stand around or sit around all evening waiting for some man to come over to dance with them or even to speak to them. But men don't give this type even a glance. So what can the unpopular girl do? She may dance just as well as the popular girl, be just as interesting to talk to, wear as good clothes, and look as generally attractive, but she doesn't get the "break." What would you suggest to snare attention?

"UNPOPULAR."

First thing, we'd try to dismiss from our consciousness that we were classified with the unpopular ones. We wouldn't use that word at all. We'd try to recognize that we'd let a number of good years pass which might have been employed in attempts at "snaring" attention. Then we would not go where we would have to stand around and be so observed, awaiting humbly a word from men. We'd try to get ourselves into a setting where there wouldn't be so much competition, such as the sports field, skating, skiing, and so on, in which a degree of skill would attract attention.

★ THRU THE LOOKING GLASS ★

You'll wish you were on the receiving end if you've added to your Christmas shopping list a new floating bath mitt. It's a bit of luxury at a small price, just recently added to a series of lovely bath preparations that help give life a satin finish. Filled with a fine perfumed soap, this pale peach mitt, when thoroly wet, exudes a fluffy lather that cleanses and leaves your skin delicately perfumed with one of the three fragrances in which it comes. When you've finished your bath, flatten the mitt out and hang it up to dry. It'll function at many more baths.

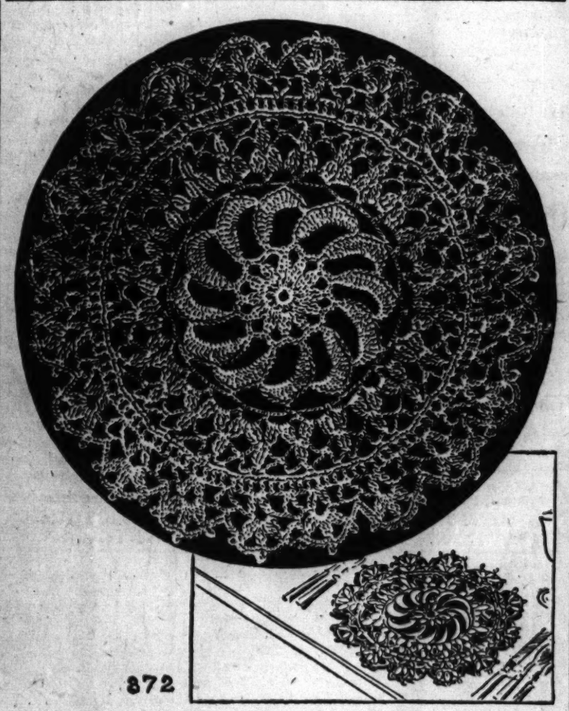
For a right royal gift, there are several combination packages worthy of consideration. Packed in an attractive wicker basket, you'll find nestling in a bed of soft foamlike packing, a bottle of toilet water with an atomizer; a bottle of body cream, a pale flesh colored liquid to use after the bath; a package of bath foam when you want bubbles with your dip, and one of the floating bath mitts.

Then there's a trio of toilet waters in the different scents, encased in a blond wood box tied up with chartreuse ribbon and little gilted bells.

FLORENCE MURDOCH.

[For information about these preparations telephone Eleanor Nangle, Superior 0200. Inclose stamped, self-addressed envelope for written reply.]

Circular Crocheted Doily



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

This unusual, crocheted, circular doily was created to be used under salad plates at bridge luncheons. It is lacey and open, composed of a wheel and cluster design which lends itself successfully to lovely crystal plates. Mercerized crochet cotton is suggested for the more formal type of doily, while carpet warp may be successfully used when doilies are to be employed under fiesta ware.

For instructions in crocheting the circular doily in cluster and wheel design, No. 872, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Numerology

By Evelyn Holmes

Dec. 16, 1940.

Universal day—An excellent day to plan menus for over the holidays, and the men could decide on the family gifts.

Using numbers—First you ought to know what your personal year is to be for the year. This you find out by adding the month and date of your birthdate to the present year—not your year of birth. Thus if you were born on this date, you would add 12 [December is the 12th month] to 16, which is the number of the day of your birth, then add 1941 to get your personal year for next year. Thus 12 plus 16 plus 1941, which is 25, or reduced to a single digit, is seven. Thus you know your year is a seven-personal-year for 1941. How to tie this up with your personal month and days I will explain tomorrow.

Would you like to know what kind of a year 1941 will be for you? Send for your personal yearly, monthly and daily guide.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson].

Masters of defense do not usually stop and figure out the exact whys and wherefores of each play. They proceed on the broader line of what is called, for want of a more descriptive term, technique. This is nothing more than a crystallization of bridge learning, vast experience, and shrewdly directed imagination. Thus, they would have real difficulty in explaining many of their plays. Consider today's hand, and the amazing difference that East's first play made.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 diamond	1 spade	Pass	Pass
Double	Pass	3 hearts	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

As may be seen, the final contract was reached in peculiar fashion, and was none too sound. North, over his partner's take-out double, attempted to show that he had considerably more than his previous pass and a present response of only two hearts would indicate. His three heart bid, indeed, while stretched, was as good a bid on the aggressive side as two hearts would have been on the conservative side. South's three no trump was partly dictated by the fact that a raise to four hearts would permit East to lead thru the spade king. [Naturally, South thought the ace was on his left.]

West opened the spade ten, dummy played low and East, seeing nothing to gain by playing the ace [the lead could not have been from K Q 10] and thinking there might be some later use for an entry, merely gave an encouraging discard, the seven spot. Declarer won and ran off his four diamonds. In order to guard the heart suit, West had to let go the J-10 of clubs and a spade. Declarer next led a low club; West won and led a low spade. Now the value of East's first play became apparent. He could cash his good diamond trick before putting West back on lead for his two spade tricks.

If East had followed the "normal" procedure of putting up his spade ace at the first trick, then returning the spade seven, West still would have been squeezed in discarding to declarer's diamonds. But then East never could have regained the lead for the all important diamond trick, and West would have been confined to the ace of clubs and three tricks in spades.

LOUIS DEFENDS TITLE TONIGHT IN BOSTON RING

McCoy Expected to Show Up.

Boston, Mass., Dec. 15 [Special].—The locality which gave boxing two of its world heavyweight champions—the immortal John L. Sullivan and the more modern Jack Sharkey—tomorrow night will play host to its first heavyweight championship battle in the history of the sport.

Joe Louis will defend the title he has held since 1937 against Al McCoy, local ring product, in a scheduled 15 round bout in Boston's garden that will ignore the modern trend and create a new low record for heavyweight championship admission prices.

Record Low Prices.

Promoter Rip Valenti of the Goodwin A. C., who is putting on the bout, has adopted a popular scale of $2.20, $3.30, and $5.50 for the bout which will see Louis in his twelfth title defense. No heavyweight titleholder in the modern history of the sport, certainly none since the golden era tapped by the late Tex Rickard, ever fought under a price scale that had such a moderate maximum.

Because of this, and the added fact it will be the first heavyweight championship in this center of culture, it is expected the garden will be filled to capacity tomorrow. Promoter Valenti expects more than 17,000 persons, and estimates receipts at over $60,000, another record. The best previous boxing gate here is the $56,000 record hung up when Sharkey fought Jim Maloney in one of their memorable battles for local favor. Valenti said his advance sale was $35,000.

Louis Outweighs McCoy.

Louis will receive 40 per cent of the net receipts for the contest and McCoy's purse will be 15 per cent. Tomorrow at noon the champion and challenger will weigh in at the quarters of the state athletic commission.

In addition to other advantages he will enjoy entering the ring—psychological, competitive, and on the record—Louis at or near 200 pounds, is expected to have a pull of close to 20 pounds in the weights, which just about makes it unanimous.

For his twelfth defense of the title he won from Jim Braddock in 1937, Louis is returning to the scene of earlier humiliation seeking his tenth knockout as champion. It was here that Louis lost to Max Marek of Chicago as a light heavyweight in one of the three reverses he suffered in his days as an amateur boxer.

Little or No Betting.

In local sporting circles it is considered a foregone conclusion that Louis will win by a knockout. Consequently there is little or no betting on the fight, a contradiction to the crowd expected to turn out tomorrow night. The attendance is explained by the desire to see Louis in action at moderate prices. As high as 2 to 1 is reported that Louis stows McCoy away in less than five rounds.

Louis is primed for the battle. He closed preparations with a light workout today in the gymnasium run by Johnny Buckley, who piloted Sharkey into the heavyweight title.

McCoy Is a Real Veteran.

Sharkey was an onlooker, as Louis shadow boxed and skipped rope in an abbreviated drill. McCoy rested, satisfied with his condition after a protracted training period in which he has sparred 70 rounds.

The Boston challenger is a veteran of the wars, which militates against his chances. He has been active in boxing, progressing from the flyweight thru each successive division to the heavyweight class over a period of about 13 years. He is strong and fast. He has a good left hand and can punch. He recently lost a decision to Billy Conn, but extended the light heavyweight champion.

STANFORD WON'T PAY PLAYERS FOR THEIR LOST TIME

Palo Alto, Cal., Dec. 15 (AP).—Stanford university today refused to avail itself of the new Pacific Coast conference rule which permits compensation to Rose Bowl football players for time lost from regular jobs. Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, university president, made the announcement.

The rule was adopted at the recent conference meeting. It permits not more than $50 reimbursement to each player for the two weeks preceding Jan. 1.

"Stanford will not avail itself of the rule for the few men who might come under it," said Dr. Wilbur.

"We feel that any question regarding the conference rule will be entirely cleared up when its scope, and the safeguards surrounding it, are fully understood and considered, and that ample time should be allowed for that purpose."

Derringer, Werber, and Frey Sign Reds' Contracts

Cincinnati, O., Dec. 15 (AP).—The world champion Reds today received signed one year contracts from Paul Derringer, Bill Werber and Linus Frey. Pitcher Bucky Walters and First Baseman Frank McCormick affixed their signatures to two year contracts last year,

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Dec. 15.—Two patrol judges, stationed on the backstretch at the Bay Meadows race track, actually were lost in a fog for nearly an hour the other day. . . . They were waiting for the ponies to gallop by in the eighth race, which had been canceled because of poor visibility, but nobody thought to inform the two shivering officials that racing was over for the day. . . . Finally the superintendent of the track made a checkup and rushed a rescue party. . . . A radio station in Sheridan, Wyo., has offered Tom Harmon a job, which calls to mind the fact that Margot Thom, one of Tom's best girl friends, lives in Buffalo, 40 miles away. . . . Apparently the radio folks have something there. . . . Ray Murphy, Army's football captain elect from Anaconda, Mont., attended a Butte business college, Montana U., and Montana State before being admitted to West Point. . . . Charles A. Comiskey, the old Roman and original owner of the White Sox, had the huge hands so necessary to a good first baseman. . . . His grandson, 15 year old Charles A. II., shows signs of being of the same mold. . . . Young Charles not only has big hands, but wears a size 13 shoe. . . . Al Simmons, who has spent recent winters in Florida or at Hot Springs, has settled down for the duration in his native Milwaukee. . . . He will be with the Athletics again next season. . . . Nomination for the smallest [in stature] brain trust in the big leagues: Manager Leo Durocher of the Dodgers, 5 feet 6 inches tall, and his coaches, Charley Dressen and John Corriden, 5 feet 5 inches and 5 feet 7, respectively. . . .

The Rev. Harold J. Kenny, director of parochial activities for the Catholic Youth organization in Chicago, traveled the vaudeville circuits as a saxophone player before he entered the priesthood 11 years ago. . . . Jimmy Dykes, the White Sox boss, is taking over his fourth bowling establishment in Philadelphia. . . . His holdings embrace 78 alleys. . . . "I learned one thing at least in radio," says Charley Grimm, the new Cub coach. . . . "That is that the press box or radio booth is a better point of vantage from which to call plays than the bench or coaching lines. . . . Before I started sitting high above the stands I sometimes wondered at the scorer's decisions on hits or errors. But no more. They're right on top of the plays." . . . Katherine Rawls Thompson, the swimming star, has passed the test for an airplane pilot's license. . . . The official name of the Bowie race track is Prince George's Park. . . . Baseball fans in the Canal Zone hope to raise $20,000 with which they will try to induce the Giants and Indians to train there in 1942.

Christmas Spirit.

Charity begins at home,
But here's the catch for fair;
The trouble is with a lot of folks,
It sometimes stays right there.
The window is never opened
To let it get outside,
To spread around and do some good
Where those less lucky abide.

What pleasure can life hold for him
Who lives for self alone,
Who gives no thought to others
Or the misery they have known?
The selfish man is a lonely man,
For deep in every heart
There can be no glow like just to know
Of good works you've been a part.

So, open wide your hearts, my friends,
And your pocketbooks as well,
What finer boon could wealth bestow
Than just to help dispel
The burden of folks' suffering.
Their worry, pain, and fear?
Don't "Give until it hurts," but
Till you grin from ear to ear!

De Paul and Loyola play host tonight in the first of the season's collegiate basketball double headers in the Coliseum. The program is national in character with Georgetown university opposing Loyola and the University of California at Los Angeles facing De Paul.

Last year De Paul held the spotlight in these double headers because its veterans established a remarkable record while Loyola, handicapped by lack of height, was consistently on the short end of the score despite thrilling uphill battles.

De Paul certainly will have a better than average quintet built around two holdover regulars, Elmer Gainer, center, and Ed Sachs, guard, who are co-captains. Sachs' defensive ability and his long range shooting match Gainer's work under both backboards.

Sophomores Hold Key.

Bob Wozny, a substitute last year, is at forward. Whether De Paul will have a team comparable to last year's depends on the development of two sophomores, Ed Bogdanski and Carter O'Rourke. The latter is a forward.

Because of Jackie Robinson, great Negro athlete from U. C. L. A., De Paul may be presumed to have a more difficult task this evening. Coach Lennie Sachs, always a stickler for perfection in the fundamentals of passing and floor play, has better material than a year ago in that Mickey Rottner is beginning his first full season of competition and Mike Dougherty, a 6 foot 6 inch sophomore center, will supply the necessary height under the baskets.

Capt. George Wenskus needs no introduction to Chicagoans since this is his second year as leader of the Ramblers. Rottner and Wenskus form a splendid combination at guards. Vinny Graham, expert ball handler, and a veteran, is paired with Sophomore Art Double up front.

Each Play Purdue This Week.

De Paul and Loyola have dates on Friday and Saturday nights, respectively, with Purdue university, the Big Ten champions. The De Paul game marks the seventh in the series with Purdue which has been played annually since 1935. Last year the Blue Demons whipped the Boilermakers, 37 to 25.

University of Pittsburgh begins its three game series with Big Ten teams Wednesday at Wisconsin. This will be Pitt's 46th game against conference teams and the Panthers have won 28 and lost 17. When Pitt moves on to Illinois Friday night it will then have faced all conference quintets at least once.

Pitt Plays N. U. Saturday.

Northwestern, Pittsburgh's host Saturday night in the Evanston High school gymnasium, is one of two Big Ten teams to hold an edge in rivalry with the visitors. Tonight's lineups:

KREEVICH SETS PACE IN PUTOUTS FOR OUTFIELDERS

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Mike Kreevich, the squatty iron man member of the White Sox outfield, did right well by himself last season in the matter of capturing fly balls. Iron Mike, in 144 games, snuffed out a total of 428 batted aerials, a figure which made him the American league's most industrious outfielder.

Mike's fly catching job was revealed yesterday with publication of the league's official fielding averages. Altho Mike was in a field of his own as a patrolman he wasn't tops among the regulars in average. Walter Judnich, the Browns' budding star, led with .989, Barney McCosky of the Tigers was next with .983, and Kreevich then crowded in with .982.

Exploding Double Play Myth.

An interesting feature of the fielding performances can be noted in the double play column. The Tigers, winners of the pennant, put a crimp in the motheaten baseball theory that success can't be attained without a flawless combination around second base. The Tigers produced only 116 double plays, the poorest total in the league. The Red Sox made 156 twin killings and the White Sox 125. They finished in a fourth place tie. The Browns put together 179 double plays and finished some place in the second division.

Frankie Pytlak, recently traded by Cleveland to Boston, set a major league record for avoiding errors. He went from Sept. 10, 1938, to Sept. 18 last season without being charged with a miscue. During that stretch he handled 571 chances. The previous high run was 452 consecutive chances by Gabby Hartnett, late of the Cubs.

McQuinn Ties Gehrig's Record.

Another catching mark was altered by Bill Dickey of the Yanks. He was in 102 games last season, making the 13th straight in which he had played 100 or more games. Previously he had been tied with Ray Schalk and Mickey Cochrane.

George McQuinn of the Browns did an impressive job while setting the pace for other first basemen. His fielding average topped regular front door attendants and he had a hand in 157 double plays, equaling a mark reached by Lou Gehrig in 1938.

The Browns had another leader in Harlond Clift, third baseman who outfielded Ken Keltner, the Indians' third baseman, who was in the No. 1 spot, and Red Rolfe, Yankees, who was in the No. 2 spot last season.

Nelson Comes Out of Trap to Win Miami Open with 271

Miami, Fla., Dec. 15 (AP).—Byron Nelson, conceded by most professionals to be the world's greatest golfer, won the $10,000 Miami open today with a 271, nine strokes under par for the 72 holes. Nelson closed with a par 70 to win by a shot over Clayton Heafner, of Linville, N. C.

Heafner had finished his round with a 68 and stood in the gallery applauding when Nelson made his winning shot.

Under terrific pressure and in trouble when his drive hit a trap on the final hole, Nelson barely got out to the top of a hillock with his second shot. With thousands pressing closer for a good look, he calmly whipped the ball 75 yards to the green, then putted up for victory and the $2,500 check.

Ben Hogan of White Plains, N. Y., the year's money-winning champion, finished with a 69 for 275 and third place. Sam Snead of Hot Springs, Va., slipped to a 71 today for 277 and a fourth place tie with Willie Goggin of Miami, who had a final 68.

Hogan Clinches Trophy.

Hogan clinched both the Vardon trophy and the year's money earning title by finishing third. His $1,000 check ran his 1940 total to $10,655.

Nelson finished second among money winners with a $9,653 total, and Snead third with $9,206. Jimmy Demaret of Houston, Tex., was fourth with $8,652.

Hogan, winner of four tournaments this year, scored 423 points on the Vardon trophy, emblematic of professional golfing consistency. Snead was second with 393 points, Nelson third with 337, and Demaret fourth with 292. Demaret won six tournaments thruout the year.

Heafner Has Tough Luck.

Heafner had the peculiar experience of shattering par on four consecutive rounds and still losing. He opened with a 68, tacked on rounds of 67 and 69, and scored his second 68 today.

Nelson really won the tournament with a second round 65, a single stroke off the course record. He had a first round 69, a 67 yesterday, and equaled par today.

Jim Ferrier, Australian open champion, tied with Earl Christiansen, Miami policeman, at 287 for amateur honors, necessitating an 18 hole playoff tomorrow. Both scored 73s today.

The leading scorers with money winnings:

Byron Nelson, Toledo, 201—70—271. $2,500.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

For a time last night in Chicago Stadium it appeared the Hawks might beat the great Toronto Maple Leafs. Then there was another span, lasting up till the last five minutes, during which it appeared the Hawks might hold the Leafs to their first tie of the season. When the game was over, tho, the Leafs were the winners, 4 to 1, their 13th National Hockey league victory in 15 games.

So the Hawks, insofar as the Toronto boys are concerned, must rest on the laurels derived from the fact they are the only team that has defeated the Leafs since the opening night of the season. The New York Rangers whipped 'em Nov. 2; the Hawks eked out a 1 to 0 decision Nov. 23, and that's all the unhappiness last night's visitors have known.

Hawks Score in Hurry.

Phil Hergesheimer, assisted by Doug Bentley and Johnny Gottselig, did all of the Chicago scoring before the game was three-fourths of a minute old. Gordon Drillon, assisted by Syl Apps and Nick Metz, tied the score shortly after the game's half way point. The 1 to 1 tie prevailed until 15 minutes and 19 seconds of the final period, whereupon Sweeney Schriner, Billy Taylor, and Hank Goldup paraded abreast down the rink, Schriner scoring the winning goal.

Drillon took the puck out of a Chicago power play, made a long pass to Metz who bore down on Goalie Paul Goodman en solo for an easy and superfluous counter in 16 minutes and 41 seconds.

Then 10 seconds before the end, Metz and Drillon again cooperated for the fourth Toronto goal, this one also by Metz.

Hawks Badly Crippled.

The Hawks went to the rink sadly crippled, what with the aggressive Cully Dahlstrom out for 10 nights with a bad knee and Dave MacKay facing a similar absence as a result of a concussion suffered when he crashed into a goal upright in Toronto Saturday night. Max Bentley was unable to don skates and Art Wiebe fought valiantly despite the anguish caused by an injured knee.

As a result of MacKay's disability, Johnny Mariucci, former University of Minnesota hockey and football star, was at left defense with Joe Cooper, making his big league debut after being recalled from the Providence Reds.

On the first play of the game Hergesheimer, Doug Bentley, and Gottselig took the opening faceoff and went right in on top of Goalie Turk Broda, and in the ensuing mêlée Hergesheimer rammed home a counter in 44 seconds. Bentley and Gottselig earned assists on the startlingly rapid maneuver. No one of the crowd of 15,876 could have suspected that this was to represent the Hawks' scoring enterprise for the whole evening.

Play Wide Open Game.

The Leafs tied the score in 12 minutes and 3 seconds of the second period as the climax of some of the most furious hockey of the evening. Both sides were playing a wide open game, first one team, then the other missing a tally by the narrowest margins.

Then on one trip to the Hawk end of the ice, Drillon, Apps and Metz got the rubber whacking off of Goalie Goodman's boots. One of the nudges bounced back to Drillon 10 feet in front of the cage. The Leaf star had just enough time to take aim and swish an ice hugger under the dancing goalie for the tying goal. Nobody to blame. The puck just slid to the wrong spot for an exhibition of Drillon's well known skill.

FIGURES PROVE GAY DECEIVERS IN PRO FOOTBALL

Title Winning Bears Lead in Only 4 Departments.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

Averages were higher in 13 departments of team play in the National Football league last season, but in the main final figures tended only to reaffirm the suspicion that there is nothing in football so deceiving as statistics, unless it is the Chicago Bears' man in motion offense.

Washington led in seven departments and Green Bay in five. But the championship went to the Bears, who could lead in only four, including yards penalized and opponents' passes completed. A year ago the Bears led the statistical parade with supremacy in seven branches of play, but it was Green Bay and New York which got to the playoff.

Redskins First in Passing.

The Redskins, whose only mistake seems to have been getting themselves mixed up with a bunch of professionals in the playoff game a week ago, were first in yards gained passing, passing efficiency, punting, runback of punts, points after touchdowns, touchdowns, and total points. They also tied the Packers in touchdown passes, each scoring 18 times on aerials.

Washington set a new league record by completing 59 per cent of its passes, a department in which it led the league last year also, and it retained its title as the leading touchdown producer on passes. It scored 18 times thru the air last season, too.

Green Bay again led in first downs, making 154 against its winning total of 149 in 1939, and paced the league in total yards gained, getting an even 3,400. Its other firsts were in pass interceptions, 40; and field goals, 10.

Bears Lead in Yards by Rushing.

The Bears, who finished second in the western division last year with a gain of 2,034 yards by rushing, retained their championship in this department by running to a total of 1,818 yards in their march to a championship. These figures do not include statistics for the playoff game in which the Bears' man in motion offense piled up 372 yards, in addition to 73 points.

Penalties totaling 605 yards in 11 games made the Bears first in this particular department for the third time in four years. They led last year with 416 yards. They also retained their championship in touchdowns by rushing, but their winning total of 22 for 1940 was four less than a year ago.

MIDWEST PREPS PICK MORTON AS COMMISSIONER

The Midwest Preparatory School conference yesterday appointed Meyer Morton of Michigan, a veteran Western conference football official, as commissioner, accepted the resignation of one member and admitted two others, increasing to 10 the number of schools in the group. The action was taken at the annual meeting, held in the Morrison hotel.

Todd school of Woodstock dropped out of the conference to join the Private School league. Voted into membership were the Howe Military academy of Howe, Ind., and the Roosevelt Military academy of Aledo, Ill.

Morton's appointment as commissioner was announced as being for the purpose of strengthening the conference. The conference laid plans for the most ambitious sports program in its history, including the division of its members into two classes in football to equalize competition.

THE GUMPS—LAUGH, CLOWN, LAUGH—

They Have a Date in Pasadena

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

From Midway to the Rose bowl in a year is the story of this trio. When Clark Shaughnessy left Chicago he told his 1939 co-captains, Bob Wasem (left), and John Davenport (center), he'd invite them to the Rose bowl if his Stanford team qualified. It did. Shaughnessy wired an invitation to each yesterday.

Triple play—Tebbetts.

Two Maroons to Crash Bench at Rose Bowl

Palo Alto, Cal., Dec. 15 (AP).—Clark Shaughnessy, who put Stanford in the Rose bowl in his first season as football coach, said today he would keep a promise made jestingly to his two co-captains of the University of Chicago eleven last year.

When Shaughnessy was in Chicago packing up last spring for his move to Stanford, he told John Davenport, left half, and Bob Wasem, right half, co-leaders of his 1939 team: "If we make the Rose bowl, I'll get you tickets for the game."

The Stanford coach, reminded by letter of his promise, telegraphed Davenport and Wasem today inviting them to be his guests on the bench when Stanford meets Nebraska, in the Pasadena New Year's day game.

Shaughnessy said he is worried over the condition of his players. Half the squad, he said, was still suffering from influenza. The illness necessitated postponing resumption of practice until tomorrow.

Among the players recovering from the flu are Frank Albert, quarter back; Jack Warnecke, left tackle; Charles Taylor, left guard, and Norman Standlee, full back. Warnecke lost 14 pounds and Taylor 12 pounds, the coach said.

Falks, Slovaks Take 3d Round Soccer Games

BY OFFSIDE.

The Falk Corporation of Milwaukee and the Slovaks of Chicago yesterday won their third round matches in the National Amateur Soccer cup play, the Falks defeating the Swedish Americans, 1 to 0, in Winnemac park, and the Slovaks running away from the Sam Redas, 4 to 0, in Olympic stadium. The victors will meet in a fourth round game, probably in Milwaukee on Sunday, Dec. 29.

The 1,000 spectators who braved a gray, chilly day to witness the Milwaukee eleven's triumph were rewarded with a spirited contest. The winning goal was scored after two minutes of play in the second half by Billy Sloan, the Falks' center.

Tho the Redas were outclassed, it was 18 minutes before the Slovaks scored. Then Steve Daniels drove the ball past Nello Menoni and into the net on a free kick from 50 yards out. Pete Matevich worked past Joe Fasano and Dominick Lacriola, the Redas' backs, and shot into the net to give the Slovaks a two goal lead at the half. Matevich got another goal after 10 minutes of the second half and Marty Mizialko collected the final score near the end.

In exhibition games, Sparta whipped the South Side Swedes, 6 to 1, in Sparta stadium, and the Olympias defeated the Slovak Reserves, 3 to 2.

Clarence Deja, loop hotel clerk, lifts 210 pounds in the military press on way to a novice record of 695 pounds yesterday for three lifts in Central A. A. U. meet in St. Philip gymnasium.

Weight Lifters Hoist the Sport to New Plane

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Citizens whose lifting talents are confined to nothing heavier than a stein of beer would have felt ashamed of their lack of hoisting ability yesterday afternoon if they had wandered into St. Philip's High school gymnasium, where the seventh annual novice weight lifting championships of the Central Amateur Athletic union were decided. For three hours bemuscled young men from nearly two score clubs in these parts went thru the strenuous routine of the exercise with a revolving bar bell, poundage of which ranged thru adjustment from 145 to nearly 300 pounds.

If you think weight lifting is one of those peculiar endeavors in which only a small group of enthusiasts indulges, you would have had your mind changed by the spirited crowd of more than 1,200 which packed the St. Philip gym yesterday. What's more, they weren't curiosity seekers, but folks who seemed to know what was going on thru all of the straining and flexing of muscles.

Breaks All Novice Marks.

Clarence Deja of the Central Y. M. C. A., the 21 year old loop hotel clerk who was the favorite to win the heavyweight title, did so by breaking every novice mark with a total of 695 pounds. At the other end of the scale was 123 pound George Palo of the German-American A. C., who lifted 495 pounds in his three efforts and also won the sportsmanship trophy, for which Deja was runnerup. The other four champions, together with their aggregate lifts, included Charles Leveen, 132 pounds, German-American A. C., 485 pounds; Harry Tanning, 148 pounds, Hyde Park Y. M. C. A., 570 pounds; Ray Prazda, 155 pounds, Chicago Weight Lifting club, 550 pounds, and George Parker, 181 pounds, German-American A. C., 625 pounds.

Hy Bernstein of the Mid-City Weight Lifting club set a new record of 165 repetitions in a situp weight effort, breaking the old mark of 110. Bernstein held a 50 pound dumbbell back of his neck, stretched out, and then sat up, repeating the return to the floor until he had reached 165.

The German-American A. C. won the team championship with 15 points. The Central Y. M. C. A. was second with 8 points, followed by the Chicago Weight Lifting club and the Hyde Park Y. M. C. A. with five each.

Sport Makes Comeback.

Weight lifting fell into dubious repute several years ago, but the last decade has seen it take its place among recognized sports. Barring the competitive phase of the sport, there is the progressive angle of it, which, to the pioneers of the exercise, is as important as yesterday's contest for medals. Thru this, business and professional men thruout the country have been able not only to keep fit the year around, but also to rectify such physical deficiencies as sagging abdominal muscles and flat chests.

P. J. Gillett, chairman of the Central A. A. U. weight lifting committee and one of the first men to foster the sport in Chicagoland, pointed out yesterday that weight lifting prowess is not acquired overnight. Many men and boys work at it for years before attaining any appreciable degree of proficiency.

Covers Prime Functions.

Yesterday's program consisted of the three prime functions of lifting—the two arm military press, the two arm snatch and the clean and jerk, done in that order, with each contestant being permitted three turns in each department. Two judges and a referee sat on three sides of the square section of wooden flooring on which the lifters functioned. The referee called the time at which each lifter was supposed to raise or drop the weight below shoulder height. He did not figure in the judging except when his two colleagues disagreed.

The judges' rulings in weight lifting are different than in any other sport. Depending upon the contestant's approach to the bar bell, the total weight lifted, the manner of boosting it into the air, the judges simply rule "good lift" or "no good."

The average weight of the bar bell, including the bar, the two largest plates in the collection of 20 used in the sport, and two collars, is 145 pounds. This can be increased or reduced thru the addition or substraction of other plates. Frank Kay of the Chicago Weight Lifting club, who holds the national 181 pound open championship, gave an exhibition of lifting which had the customers cheering. He set a new Central A. A. U. record of 840 pounds for the three styles of lifting. Frank, who works in a munitions plant, is an example of what all of yesterday's novices hope to be, since all of the contestants in the meet at St. Philip's will be classed as beginners until they have won a medal in competition, at which time they automatically become open lifters.

Military Press Difficult.

The most difficult of the three departments of weight lifting is the two arm military press, in which the bar bell is brought up from the floor in an even motion, held at shoulder height for the duration of the referee's count of two, and then raised above the head for a similar count. All of this is transacted with a military precision which permits no juggling with the hands or jigging with the feet. The two arm snatch is accomplished with a single motion in which there is no interruption at the shoulder stake. The clean and jerk derives its name from the regulation lift to the shoulder, followed by a jerking motion by which the weight is lifted above the head.

Tony Demers, rookie Canadien wingman who has already established himself as possessor of one of the hardest shots in hockey, delivered the winning goal with 1 minute and 19 seconds of extra period play remaining. It came on a shot from 35 feet out that whizzed between Goalie Johnny Mowers' pads. Lineups:

LONDON CERTAIN U. S. WILL GIVE FINANCIAL AID

War Loss Insurance Bill Assailed.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 15.—The London financial district apparently is convinced that the financial discussions going on between Great Britain and the United States already have reached the point where a successful conclusion is assured despite the sudden death of Lord Lothian, British ambassador, in Washington Thursday.

John M. Keynes who proposed insurance plan.

Indicative of this conviction, the Financial News said in an editorial: "If American loans are not yet in the bag, they certainly are very much in the air—sufficiently so to be worth considering as a factor in the general financial outlook."

Debate Insurance Plan.

Meanwhile the government's new bill for insuring property against war damage is occupying much attention. Already the bill has been severely criticized by insurance officials, underwriters, and brokers for its complexity. Basing of premiums to be paid on buildings on their income tax assessment, many authorities said is likely to result in difficulties in the eventual settlement of claims. Some market writers predict it will prove to be one of the most complicated measures since the income tax itself was introduced in this country.

The premium, which over a five year period works out at more than 3 per cent of the estimated value of Britain's buildings, is higher than generally had been expected. It means, according to financial experts, that approximately 10 per cent of the net rents of big property owning companies will be swallowed up in premium payments. Creation of the scheme is attributed largely to John M. Keynes, economist, who is the leading member of the treasury advisory board.

Source of Funds Uncertain.

In the absence of official statistics on the war damage costs, it is impossible to estimate how far £200,000,000 [about $800,000,000], which the premiums are expected to bring in over a period of five years, will cover the expenditures on reconstruction.

The government is pledged to put up a similar amount and to meet half of any additional costs beyond a combined total of £400,000,000. The other half will be covered by increased premiums.

How this money will be raised by the treasury in wartime was not indicated. Last week, according to treasury figures, expenditures reached a record total of £110,174,337 [about $440,697,300], or £15,739,191 daily [about $62,956,700].

WAGE EARNERS' COST OF LIVING RISES ONLY ½ PCT. DURING YEAR

New York, Dec. 15 [Special].—The cost of living of American wage earners increased only one-half of 1 per cent from November, 1939, to November of this year, the National Industrial Conference board reported today. No change in the cost of living was recorded from October to November this year.

The board's tabulation put the cost figure for last month 15.3 per cent below the November, 1929 level, but 19.2 per cent above the low point of the depression in April, 1933.

Food prices declined three-tenths of 1 per cent from October to November, rents advanced one-tenth of 1 per cent, coal prices increased seven-tenths of 1 per cent, and the price of clothing and sundries remained unchanged.

CHARGES NLRB EXAMINER WITH BIAS, STUPIDITY

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 15 [Special].—"Bias beyond control, stupidity beyond reason, or deliberate attempt at mendacity" characterized the findings of Trial Examiner Howard Myers in the recent tent and awning labor case, the Merchants and Manufacture association of Los Angeles asserted in a complaint to the National Labor Relations board made public today.

Myers presented his findings last October after a seven month hearing, which ostensibly concerned the labor practices of four local tent and awning manufacturers but which actually involved several employer groups, among them the Merchants and Manufacturers' association.

The association's complaint described Myers' report as a "blitzkrieg against the open shop principle in industry." He is accused of having been "arbitrary, biased, capricious, and moved by considerations entirely outside of the evidence or the record in this case."

STATE OFFICIALS FIGHT TREASURY BOND TAX PLAN

New York, Dec. 15 (AP).—A committee of the Conference on State Defense, in a statement signed by 22 officials of states and municipalities, today announced opposition to the treasury department's proposal to tax state and municipal bonds.

The committee, including the attorneys general of New York, Vermont, Mississippi, North Carolina, Ohio, New Jersey, Virginia, Wyoming, Maryland, Illinois, Washington, and California, said its opposition would be based on the contention that such taxes were unconstitutional, financially unsound, and a detriment to national defense.

SCARCER RAW MATERIALS GET PRICE PREMIUM

Steel Production Dips Slightly.

Cleveland, O., Dec. 15 (AP).—Premiums are being offered more and more for scarce raw materials, the magazine Steel reported today. Strong efforts are being made, however, both by steelmakers and Washington, to keep prices at present levels lest a spiraling process of rising raw materials, finished material selling, prices, and wages, get out of hand, it said.

"Scrap prices continue to advance moderately," the review said. "Reinforcing steel bars for export are $4 per ton higher."

The situation in coke, an essential in blast furnace operations, was described as becoming "ever tighter."

Production Is Lower.

Steel ingot production declined 1 point last week to 95½ per cent of capacity, "again revealing effects of the long strain on furnace linings," since furnaces had to be cooled for repairs. New England district ran counter to the general trend, with its ingot production rising 15 points to 90 per cent of the theoretical capacity.

Unchanged districts and their figures: Cincinnati, 87; St. Louis, 87½; Detroit, 90; Buffalo, 93; Wheeling, 93½; eastern Pennsylvania, 95, and Youngstown, 92. Declines were shown by Birmingham, 3 to 97; Pittsburgh, 1 to 96; Cleveland, 4 to 86½; Chicago, 1½ to 98.

Build Electric Furnaces.

New York, Dec. 15 (AP).—The steel industry is engaged in an electric furnace construction program expected to add 900,000 net tons of steel ingots annually to the national supply by early 1941, the American Iron and Steel institute said today. A total of 21 electric furnaces is expected to be in operation early next year. Some are already at work. The additions will increase by nearly 50 per cent the industry's electric furnace capacity, the institute said.

Scott Paper Company Sales Run Well Above '39 Level

The Scott Paper company of Chester, Pa., in a statement mailed yesterday to shareholders, announced that net sales of Scott products in the first 11 months were $17,768,216, or well above a year ago.

Food Prices Little Changed in Chicago During December

Food prices in Chicago have changed little since the start of the month, a survey of the wholesale markets disclosed yesterday. Meat, particularly pork, and potatoes, lard, and flour were selling lower than a year ago, and in many instances at sharp reductions.

Demand for most staples has increased substantially during the last year, the survey indicated, but in only a few instances have prices made wide gains. Among commodities selling at levels higher than a year ago are sugar and coffee, which are up about a cent a pound on the wholesale markets.

Farm Produce Above 1939.

The farmer has gained while the consumer pays more for butter and eggs than last year. Consumption of these two items this winter has been at exceptionally high levels, produce men said. Butter has been selling approximately 6 cents a pound higher than last year and at highest levels in the last three years.

Egg prices have fluctuated erratically during the last two weeks. "Firsts" dropped from a three year high of 31 cents a dozen on Dec. 4 to a low of 24½ cents on Dec. 10. This grade sold wholesale Saturday at 26½ cents a dozen, about 8½ cents higher than on the corresponding date in 1939.

Quality of pork offered in the city's retail establishments now is reported unusually high while prices apparently have been stabilized at the lowest levels in years.

ROCK ISLAND.

I would appreciate having an outline of the reorganization plan for the Rock Island railroad.—T. C.

Answer: The reorganization plan for the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railway company, as approved recently by the Interstate Commerce commission, would trim the company's capitalization from $553,313,003 to $351,180,912 and reduce total annual fixed charges from $13,726,179 to $6,984,875.

The plan would be retroactive to Jan. 1, 1941, if it is confirmed by the federal District court in Chicago and approved by two-thirds of each class of security holders permitted to participate in the reorganization. The equity of the present preferred and common stock holders is erased under the plan.

Capitalization of the new company, as provided by the plan, would consist of total funded debt of $124,943,184, including $28,002,124 of equipment trust certificates carried over from the present company, $36,941,060 in first mortgage bonds, and $60,000,000 in income bonds; 750,000 shares of $100 par 5 per cent preferred and 1,512,377 shares of no par common stock.

The new securities would be given to security holders participating in the reorganization in exchange for their present holdings. Terms of the proposed exchange of securities as they apply to individual securities of the railroad can be obtained by sending an inquiry about the specific issue to the Investors' Guide.

INDUSTRY ASKED TO INVENTORY MEN, MACHINES

Pledges Complete Defense Support.

New York, Dec. 15 (AP).—H. W. Prentis Jr., president of the National Association of Manufacturers, announced tonight that the association was asking its members to participate in an inventory of men and machines and to survey "bottlenecks" in defense production.

The inventory, he said, was the association's reply to William S. Knudsen of the national defense advisory commission, who told the manufacturers' convention last week defense production had lagged.

Promises Full Support.

"The answer of American industry is clear and uncompromising," Prentis said in a statement. "With a better knowledge of the task at hand we will bend every effort to meet the demands that are made upon us and will continue to coöperate to the full extent of our abilities.

"This inventory will bring to light not only productive capacity, but also barriers to production presently beyond the control of manufacturers."

View of New President.

Walter D. Fuller, president of the Curtis Publishing company of Philadelphia, president elect of the association, said in a message to manufacturers:

"Every defense industry should measure the maximum of its production possibilities on a 24 hour day or a seven day week basis as Mr. Knudsen suggested and lay before the commission these possibilities and the circumstances under which the nation's utmost defense production can be obtained.

"There are many difficulties in defense production beyond the single control of management and in which the coöperation of both government and labor is needed."

NYA TAKES SHIPYARD TO TRAIN 1,400 BOYS IN VESSEL BUILDING

New York, Dec. 15 [Special].—A New York shipyard capable of handling vessels up to 1,800 tons has been taken over by the National Youth administration to train idle youths for jobs in defense industries, it was disclosed today by Miss Helen M. Harris, head of the NYA in New York. Fourteen hundred youths will be paid $22 a month for 60 hours' work per month. They will work in four shifts, two day and two night.

Miss Harris said the yard contains three drydocks, two for craft up to 900 tons and one for craft up to 1,800 tons. She said the navy department is not interested in the yard because the yard cannot build bigger ships.

[Only 13 of 73 United States destroyers built since 1932 have exceeded 1,800 tons. The other 60 have ranged from 1,395 to 1,570 tons. Standard tonnage of 153 other destroyers built previously is 1,190 tons.]

Miss Harris said the 1,400 youths will build floats, scows, and barges to learn shipbuilding technique.

Reports Persist That Ford Will Raise Basic Pay Rate

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 15 [Special].—Altho no official announcement has been made, reports persist that the Ford Motor company will raise its basic pay scale to at least $7 a day to offset the contract scale obtained recently by unionized employés of other auto companies.
